Ike Is Undecided Whether To Sign Or Veto Farm Bill

President and Secretary Benson Discuss Controversial Matter More Than Two Hours Saturday

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14 (AP) — A White House official said President Eisenhower still was undecided today whether to sign or veto an election-year farm bill he doesn't like, but will announce a decision early next week.

Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson discussed the politically controversial bill for more than two hours here this morning. Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen afterward that Eisenhower reached no conclusion.

Benson said after a long conference with Eisenhower that he is "quite sure" the President still is undecided whether to sign or veto the farm bill.

"The President wants to continue to study all the technical details of the bill prior to making a decision," Hagerty said.

But he added: "I would think it would be fair to write that he (Eisenhower) will act on the farm bill early next week."

Hagerty announced that the President will end a week's working vacation here tomorrow and fly back to Washington, arriving there probably in the early evening.

Fifteen Republican senators who voted for the farm bill delayed today a request for a personal conference with President Eisenhower on the reported assurance their views will get "serious consideration" before any veto decision.

The fifteen include seven farm state Republicans running again this year who want to appeal to the President against a veto that would cut their administration ties on the farm issue.

They are Sens. Capehart of Indiana, Carlson of Kansas, Francis Case of South Dakota, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Welker of Idaho, Wiley of Wisconsin, and Young of North Dakota.

Chairman Schoeppel (Kan) of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, who voted for the bill when Congress passed it Wednesday, was asked to arrange for a White House meeting. Schoeppel indicated any request for a conference will be delayed until next week.

Another senator said the group had been assured the President has not yet made up his mind whether to reject a bill he has described as unworkable. It would restore for one year high, rigid price supports the President has opposed.

At Eisenhower's vacation headquarters in Augusta, Ga., White House press secretary James Hagerty said the President had reached no decision on a veto.

"We believe that's correct," one Republican senator said. "We are assured the President is giving our views serious consideration."

Republican House Leader Martin (Mass.) predicted a veto.

Despite Popular Opinion—

Farm Exports Remain At A Favorable Level

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP) — There seems to be an impression that exports of U. S. farm products have dwindled to virtually nothing.

Such is not the case. Foreign shipments of products of American farms have been running at favorable levels.

As farm officials point out, the impression that U. S. exports are small undoubtedly has been created by a sudden drop in shipments at the end of the Korean War and the ensuing accumulation of nine billion dollars worth of surpluses.

Letters received by the Agriculture Department from farmers as well as criticism of government foreign trade policies by some congressmen indicate a general belief that this country has lost out in world markets for food and fiber products.

Viewed in historical perspective, farm exports are encouraging.

Department reports show that agricultural exports in 1955 totaled $3,370,000,000, measured in terms of average prices received for the exported commodities during the -952-54 period. This was 22 per cent above the 31-year (1924-55) average of $2,760,000,000, measured by the same prices.

It is true that the 1955 exports were 14 per cent below the 1952 Korean War peak of $3,920,000,000. But exports that year were influenced by abnormal factors, the principal one being "scare buying" by countries fearing the conflict in Asia might develop into another full-scale war.

When the war scare faded, foreign countries reduced stocks and U. S. farm exports in 1953 fell to $2,840,000,000.

Farm exports last year were only four per cent below the $3,490,000,000 average of the prosperous late 20s, and about the same as the $3,380,000,000 average of 1946-50 when a large part of the foreign shipments were financed under foreign aid programs.

Red Leaders Ride Toward England Visit

LONDON, April 14 (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev rode toward Britain tonight, the first top Soviet leaders to visit a major Western nation since the Bolshevik Revolution.

The "Kremlin twins, B and K" as they have been called by the British press, were all smiles on leaving Moscow's green and white stuccoed station by special train today.

At Kaliningrad — formerly the east Prussian city of Koenigsberg—they will board the Soviet cruiser Ordjonikidze tomorrow. No foreign or Soviet newsmen will be permitted to see the embarkation.

Bulganin and Khrushchev seemed in good spirits as they were seen off by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Deputy Premiers A. I. Mikoyan and L. M. Kaganovich, and a party of dignitaries and diplomats.

This capital, which is used to international visitors, has built up an intense interest over the tour.

On one hand Britons want to give them a welcome in the hope their visit will help ease international relations. On the other they are worried whether the thousands of anti-Communist refugees may threaten the safety of the visitors.

Orders from No. 10 Downing St., Prime Minister Eden's residence, have gone out to safeguard Bulganin and Khrushchev at all costs. Peace between East and West may depend on it.

GOP Leader Announces Details For National Strategy Conference

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—A Republican leader struck a 1956 "running scared" keynote today in announcing details for a national strategy conference here Monday and Tuesday.

The meetings, to map plans for the presidential and congressional campaigns, will close with a dinner Tuesday night to be addressed by President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Nixon will introduce the President who will speak.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall sounded the call against a complacent campaign in a statement saying:

"We face a tough battle in November and we know it. We not only want to re-elect the President by an overwhelming vote of confidence, but we want to give him a Republican House and Senate to help carry forward his great program of peace, progress and prosperity."

NFO Groups Vote To Hold County Meeting in April

The Pettis County National Farmers Organization held Township meetings last Monday, when it was voted to hold a county organization meeting on Monday, April 23. The group also voted to hold a meeting every month thereafter on the fourth Monday of each month.

Olen Downs, Pettis County president of the county group, announced the National Farmers Organization now boasts of a membership of 150,000 and has added three more states in the past two weeks.

Pettis County members have been invited to attend a meeting of the Johnson County NFO to be held at the Warrensburg Public High School on Tuesday night, April 17. Speakers of national prominence have been invited to appear on this program.

The Pettis County chapter it was announced now has over 1,400 paid membership.

Saratoga Launched With Navy

Aircraft Carrier Put Afloat As New Sovereign Of US Fighting Ships

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)— The U.S.S. Saratoga joined the Navy today—a new sovereign of American fighting ships.

She was commissioned into service in dramatic ceremonies on her huge, sunlit flight deck.

More than 8,000 guests, including top-ranking Navy officers and government officials, were present for the debut of the new aircraft carrier, the biggest, hardest-hitting combat vessel ever built.

"The Saratoga," said Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, is the Navy's greatest offensive vessel."

He termed her a "floating, moving, fighting air field."

A bright sun streamed on the enormous four-acre flight deck as the American flag and commission pennant were raised, signaling the ship's formal induction into the fleet.

As the strains of the national anthem came to a close, the ship's newly assigned skipper, Capt. Robert J. Stroh of Alexandria, Va., snapped out the climactic words:

"The U.S.S. Saratoga is now in commission."

The 60,000-ton ship, an awesome colossus of steel, surpasses in size, power and speed any ocean-fighting ship afloat, including her sister ship, the carrier U.S.S. Forrestal.

The ship will carry some 100 fighting planes—faster-than-sound fighters, bombers and night and day interceptors and attack planes.

From the Saratoga's catapult, four of these planes can be put into the air in 60 seconds.

The ship itself is so large it could not begin to go through the Panama Canal. Its towering masts had to be hinged so the ship could get under the Brooklyn Bridge.

She lay along a pier at Brooklyn's navy yard, a floating airbase as long as five city blocks and a block wide.

Thomas called her "a symbol of power and strength on the side of peace."

Kiwanis Members And Wives Have Dinner, Take WAFB Tour

Whiteman Air Force Base, home of the 340th Bombardment Wing, was visited on Thursday evening by approximately 100 members, wives and guests of the Sedalia Kiwanis Club who toured the base and had dinner at the Officers Club.

The group toured the Whiteman flight line and had a look at the B-47 and KC-97 aircraft. They also received an explanation of the two aircraft and had on opportunity to go through the KC-97.

Following the flight line tour, the Kiwanians went to base operations where Col. Charles V. Neil, base commander, formally accepted on behalf of the base a bronze plaque commemorating the dedication of Whiteman Air Force Base.

Presentation of the plaque was made by the Rev. Edward R. Sims, chairman of the committee which arranged for its design and purchase. Other members of the committee were: Jack Shoemaker, Dick Dean, Dan Wolf, Robert Hausam and William R. Jins.

This plaque was donated to the base by the Sedalia Kiwanis Club and had been mounted on a wall in the base operations building.

After touring the entire base, the group assembled at the officers club for dinner.

Lt. Col. Harry W. Robb, deputy base commander, addressed the Kiwanians after dinner. In his speech, Col. Robb noted the significance of SAC's tenth anniversary and explained the mission and economic aspects of the 340th Bombardment Wing.

President Jack Shoemaker presided at the dinner program. Invocation was by Kiwanian Karl Schofer, base chaplain. Group singing was led by Abe Rosenthal and Al Wuelfing.

Special recognition in "Happy Birthday" song was given to Louis Smith, 1300 West 16th, who that day celebrated his 93rd birthday anniversary. He and Mr. Smith's daughter, Mrs. M. C. Hazel, were guests of his father-in-law, Guy Bailey and Mrs. Bailey.

Utah Governor Is Ready to Go to Highest Court to Fight Against Paying Income Tax

SALT LAKE CITY, April 14—(AP)—Utah Gov. J. Bracken Lee's income tax is due Monday, and the governor says he is "ready to go to the highest court to prevent the government from collecting it."

Lee, a Republican, contends it is unconstitutional for the federal government to use tax revenue to aid foreign nations.

"There is no provision anywhere in the Constitution granting the U. S. government the right to appropriate taxpayers' money for support of foreign nations," he said today. "My refusal to pay my tax is intended to force a court case of that contention.

"I intend to fight in every district court in the country and in the Supreme Court, if necessary, to prove my case."

Yesterday Lee received a letter from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who said the government would "proceed in the usual manner to collect the taxes" if the governor doesn't pay up before the deadline Monday.

Lee said he wrote to the secretary, "asking him to clarify what this 'usual manner' is.

"I want to know if he means that they'll just move in and confiscate my property without due process—like they've done in the past at times—or if they'll have a court order."

Lee said he feels the federal government will not take any action "at least until after the November elections," and said he is not going to wait to be ordered into court.

"I have my attorneys preparing briefs and I expect to take the case into court in about 60 days," Lee said. "At that time I will ask the government for a declaratory judgment."

Lee said he will take the case first to U. S. District Court in Salt Lake City.

The governor filed his income tax return last January but did not enclose the money he owes on earnings other than his salary of $10,000 from which the federal withholding tax already had been taken.

He declined to say how much tax money is involved under his "other income," most of which comes from investments.

Lee is completing his second term as governor.

Closes Out Meeting With Egyptians

UN Chief Flies To Beirut For Weekend Work At Secretariat

TEL AVIV, Israel, April 14 (AP)— Dag Hammarskjold took a surprise ride by automobile through the bristling Gaza Strip border today on his circuit of Middle East capitals to close the damper on war-provoking incidents.

The U. N. secretary general, closing out what he appeared to regard as an encouraging round of talks with Egyptian leaders in Cairo, paid a brief, unexpected call at Gaza. It lies in the six-mile costal strip held by Egypt which has been a focal point of dozens of bloody border incidents since 1948.

Then abandoning his plane, he set out on the automobile ride for a close look at the demarcation line and the countryside of southern Israel which was the scene earlier this week of a series of Arab commando raids in which Israeli authorities reported 14 Israelis killed and 32 wounded.

Hammarskjold arrived at Lydda Airport between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem about four hours after leaving Gaza and met Israeli government representatives.

After a short conference his plane picked him up at Lydda Airport and he hopped off for Beirut, the capital of Lebanon, for a weekend of staff work at the secretariat he has set up there for the month-long mission ordered by the U. N. Security Council. He planned to return to Jerusalem early next week for conferences with Israeli leaders.

His previous plans had called for him to fly directly from Cairo to Beirut. But his aides said the change was in line with the secretary general's policy of keeping his plans "fuild and flexible."

Before leaving Gaza he told newsmen he had received a complete briefing on the bombardment of that refugee-crowded city by Israeli artillery and mortars on April 5 when the Egyptians said 64 civilians and soldiers were killed and more than 100 wounded.

The incident, one of the most serious in a chain of such incidents, was set off, the Israelis said, by repeated attacks on their border settlements and patrols.

Before leaving Cairo, Hammarskjold again talked with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser for 30 minutes and with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi for more than an hour. Upon leaving Nasser he told newsmen:

"I have done in Cairo what I came to do."

"It seems to me the secretary general is very satisfied with his Cairo visit," said Hammarskjold's press chief, George Ivan Smith.

A highly placed Egyptian told newsmen, "Egypt did not place any obstacles in front of Secretary General Hammarskjold while he was here. Hammarskjold left Egypt pleased with his visit and he expects to return to Cairo later."

Since Thursday there has been a tapering off of the incidents which have fanned hatred on both sides of the frontier, and this has encouraged hopes that the cease fire pledges would be kept.

Governor Criticizes Federal School Aid

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton Friday night criticized the Eisenhower administration's program of federal aid to schools.

Stratton, a Republican, told the Society of Professional Engineers that the Illinois allotment was a "drop in the bucket" compared to what its own citizens contribute for school support. The allotment, Strattor added, was "almost an insult" to the state. He did not say what the state's share would be under the federal school aid program.

4-H Leader's Camp Conference

The annual 4-H Leaders Camp Conference at Knob Noster State Park has been scheduled from 9:30 a.m. on May 28 until 4:30 p.m. May 29. The camp is being held earlier in the year and shortened to one night in accordance with the suggestions of those who attended camp last fall. The program is directed toward community and assistant community leaders but there is an enormous amount of information for project leaders also.

Every club should make an effort to have a leader go for the two short days of the camp and also try to get some other leaders to make up a car load with neighboring clubs and take in either day. Last year we only had one leader attend which surely is not an indication of your 4-H program in the county.

State 4-H Club Week, June 6-9

State Club Week at Columbia is drawing close and we should have the application blanks ready to go in a few days. Delegates to this camp must be 14 years old and our county quota will be 14 members. The registration fee will be $10.50 this year which will cover meals from Wednesday evening to and including lunch on June 9. lodging and insurance. There will be need for helpers in the dining room, this work paying for meals and those so accepted will only have to pay $3.70. More information will be forthcoming on State Club Week.

National Awards and County Medals

We have given some erroneous information on who may compete for county medals. Any 4-H member duly enrolled in a 4-H project may apply for a county medal in a category that ties in with his or her project. To be eligible for a county medal winners application for consideration on the state basis the 4-H member must have been 14 years of age on Jan. 1, 1956 and be enrolled in at least their third year of 4-H Club work.

All entries will be expected to fill out the Standard Report Form and write a story on their projects. In the county there will be available for your application 91 county medals, 18 club certificates, plus a county medal for all the blue ribbon winners in girls dress revue. Here is a wonderful opportunity for 4-H members to gain local recognition for the fine job that they are doing.

Report of County 4-H Status on April 1

On April 1 in Pettis County we had a 4-H enrollment of 565 which is down two members from 1955. We had 31 4-H clubs which was up one from last year, four of these clubs being new clubs. These 565 members are carrying approximately 950 projects so that means nearly two projects per member. In addition to these we have around 20 associate members who are not carried on the state enrollment blank. Let's strive to have your club reach 100 per cent completion on their projects.

Detective Memories

CAMBRIA, Minn. (AP)—A memory game played by the three young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bowen led to the breakup of a juvenile crime ring. The girls read the number of a car parked at a filling station, memorized it and made it into a game. When Bowen learned the next day that the station had been robbed, the girls told him the license number and he gave it to authorities. The car was traced and its owner implicated other youths who later admitted a series of breakins.

Bigger Hats Demand Soft Hair Styles

PAGE BOY EFFECT — This smooth gently waved coif is converted from a French roll effect by brushing the roll at the nape of the neck. Designed by James Caesar.

FRENCH ROLL — It gets a new twist to top season's elegant silhouette. The long back hair is brushed from nape of neck into smooth French roll with shadow wave.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Big hats and short hair aren't compatible. That's the word of one of the country's leading hairdressers, James Caeser of New York. He explains

"The bigger the hat, the greater the need for the softening effect of the longer coiffure. A woman's face is like a picture with a double frame, the hat framing the hair, and the hair framing the face."

But if one does wear longer hair, avoid the straggly-end look, Caeser advises. He suggests

"Good basic styling is even more important when hair is longer, as it is heavier and more susceptible to broken ends and an unkempt appearance."

Even with the longer hair, you'll need regular trimming to keep it neat, he says. Many girls feel that when they let the hair grow they can forget all about cutting the hair.

Double fashion possibilities are offered with the longer hair too, Caesar reminds us. The dramatic "croissant" becomes a French roll with a new twist. A sweet of the brush at the nape of the neck converts this "croissant" into a dramatic softly waved page boy that looks equally well with or without a big hat.

This growing wave created by the hair getting longer does require a permanent wave, Caesar points out, because when the hair is growing, the wave may easily become a sagging one.

Caesar doesn't approve of tight, frizzy permanents, however, and says he always "provides a permanent wave base that utilizes the hair's own natural wave and never becomes frizzy. He believes in suiting the permanent wave to the hair type. The woman with baby-fine hair that retains little or no wave and has a tendency toward limpness needs an over-all permanent wave, done with a gentle curl, giving depth, body and natural curl. Fine hair that has more body and natural wave may use a partial permanent.

National Recognition Is Given To One of Sedalia's Industries

One of Sedalia's oldest and largest industries was given national recognition recently in a national trade magazine, "The Reporter," a publication of the Maryland Drycleaners Guild. The article, entitled "The ADCO Story," was in connnection with a series of articles called "What's Your Line."

The article is in connection with the founding of the American Disinfecting Co., which name several years ago was changed to ADCO, Inc., and also in connection with Mrs. Vivia D. Van Dyne, president and chairman of the board, and her family, all interested in the firm's operation.

The following article is a reprint from "The Reporter":

"It's a common thing for Mom to be head of the house and also hold down a full-time job; it's most uncommon for Mom to head a family and also conduct a world-wide business — especially when Mom is 85 years old.

"Yet, that is exactly the situation Mrs. Vivia D. Van Dyne finds herself in. Mrs. Van Dyne is the mother of four boys and two girls, plus being president and chairman of the board of Adco, Inc., one of the world's largest firms of manufacturing chemists.

"And, this charming lady, whose youthfulness and energy belie her age, celebrated her 85th birthday January 27.

The really remarkable fact about Mrs. Van Dyne is that she is no mere figurehead; she takes an active part in the affairs of Adco Inc., as she has from the time she and her late husband John R. Van Dyne, Sr., founded the company in Sedalia in 1908.

"Mr. Van Dyne was executive head of Adco, Inc., until his death in 1916, at which time his widow, and their eldest son, Clifford D. Van Dyne, assumed joint management. When Clifford entered the Armed Forces to take part in World War I, Mrs. Van Dyne took full charge of the company. Upon his discharge from the service, Clifford returned to the company and was in charge of its affairs until his untimely death at 34.

"Mrs. Van Dyne's other sons joined Adco, Inc., upon completing college; Charles M., in 1925; John R., Jr., in 1931, and Dick in 1934. Charles managed the company and John and Dick both were active in sales until both John and Dick took time out to fight in World War II. John served three years in the Army and Dick, three years in the Navy.

"John returned to Adco, Inc., as sales manager, a position he had assumed shortly before entering the service, and Dick, upon his return, was promoted to assistant sales manager.

"Due to the energetic efforts of Mrs. Van Dyne and her hard-working, imaginative sons and co-workers, Adco, Inc., had expanded to such an extent that in 1951 all three sons were elected executive vice presidents of the company.

"Adco, Inc., has continued to expand right up until the present day and, if Mrs. Van Dyne has her way, will go right on growing, forever. When Mrs. Van Dyne and her late husband established Adco, Inc., it was a small, local business situated in a small town—Sedalia.

"Today, Adco, Inc., knows no boundaries—it covers the world. Adco, Inc., has representatives in everyone of the 48 states, seven warehouses strategically located throughout the United States, and distribution facilities in 36 foreign countries.

"Adco, Inc., is known everywhere as one of the friendliest, most cooperative allied trades companies the drycleaners deal with. Evidence that Adco, Inc., is not content to rest on its laurels is the huge, ultra-modern research laboratory built last year.

"In direct charge of the laboratory is Dr. J. C. Alexander, one of America's outstanding research chemists. Chief Chemist of Adco, Inc., is Alexander Fabry, with the company for the last 29 years and one of the most respected men in his profession.

"Mrs. Van Dyne credits much of the success her company has enjoyed to the type of men and women she has working for and with her; everyone of them, Mrs. Van Dyne says, is dedicated to doing the best job he possibly can."

Fifty St. Louis area firms will participate as "hosts" during the day's program. The evening program will be climaxed with the presentation by St. Louis' Municipal Opera of a Rogers and Hammerstein "Music Festival."

Ben Wells, who is vice-president in charge of sales and advertising for the Seven-Up Company of St. Louis, stated that the program is the first of its kind in 20 years. "We hope that this will be the forerunner of many similar ones that will provide reciprocal cultural, educational and economic benefits with those who work and live in the Mississippi Valley," Wells said.

Pete's Pig Pen Is Purchased By G. L. Hagerman

Pete's Pig Pen, 420 South Osage, has been purchased by G. L. "Bruno" Hagerman, 620 West Second, from Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stivers, 1111 West Sixth. Ownership of the business will change hands Monday morning.

The business was first opened more than 25 years ago by Pete Drenas, now the owner and operator of Pete's Motel. He sold the business to Stivers, who began working for him back in 1938.

At the beginning of World War II, Stivers entered the service and in 1946, when he returned, he again associated with Drenas in the business. After a short time he bought the place and Drenas entered the motel business.

Stivers and his wife have operated the Pig Pen for several years. Last year Stivers fell while at work, injuring his back, and it has become necessary for him to get out of this type of business.

Hagerman is well-known in Sedalia. He worked for the Pacific Cafe for Le Roy "Dutch" Kirchofer for more than 16 years. This is his first adventure in business on his own.

High School Goes Political In Battle for Council Seats

By Bob Mason and Nancy Oswald

Politics began to be the center of attention at Smith-Cotton High School with political campaign speeches by candidates for Student Council offices on Monday in the school auditorium. Each candidate and his campaign manager made promises and stated qualifications in a most convincing manner as they sought to gain student votes for the primary election next Tuesday. With the closing of the campaign speeches, candidates and their campaign groups were allowed to cover the halls with posters and pass out campaign stickers advocating advantages of voting for the various candidates. As the week went along the campaign began to be more and more exciting and students are looking for a brisk battle in the primaries next Tuesday. Senior student council candidates are Don Land, Deanie Perkins and Wayne Brown, and their campaign managers are Don Eddy, Kay Satterwhite and Tony Walch. Junior Student Council candidates are Jon Waller, Bill Heiss, Kay Jacobi and Nicky Nichols. The council sponsor is Miss Hazel Gray.

The Senior Class, in preparation for the end of school activities at Smith-Cotton, has been divided into some nine committees to see that each of the activities is carried out successfully. The committees and their chairmen are as follows: Kid Day Assembly with Berlene Curtis and Dick Shoemaker co-chairmen, the Will will be written under the supervision of Mary Schofer, the Prophesy will be managed by Nancy Oswald, the Kid Day Dance has Rosalie Moore as chairman. The committee appointed to find a picnic location is under the direction of Kenneth Ash, the food committee is under the co-chairmanship of Mary Alice Hutchison and Suzanne Holst. Transportation to the picnic will be handled by Bill Bottcher, the Kid Day movie will be chosen under the supervision of John Brummet and Pat Kreeger, and finally the Spring Formal committee will be under the supervision of Janice Fowler. The Senior sponsors are Mrs. Thelma Cook and J. W. Atkins.

The Sophomore and Junior girls who are interested in becoming Spiz Club members next year have been asked to sign the list now in the room of the Spiz sponsor, Miss Lois Gordon. To become a Spiz member a girl must be either a Sophomore or Junior with an M average. The students then in the Sophomore and Junior classes vote for 32 of the girls in their class. During the past year the Spiz Club has done an exceptionally fine job at various athletic events and have also aided many civic drives in Sedalia.

This past Friday the Smith-Cotton Letterman's Club held its annual banquet in the Smith-Cotton cafeteria. The speaker at the banquet was Sparky Stalcup, basketball coach at the University of Missouri. After the banquet a dance was held, with music by Bob Cummings and his orchestra. To be eligible for membership in the "L" Club, a boy must be a Junior or Senior with an M average and have lettered in some school activity. The sponsor of the "L" Club is Forrest Arnall.

The Senior Student Council held its weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon during the sixth hour. The main order of business dealt with the council banquet, which will be held May 3 in the Smith-Cotton cafeteria. After the banquet, which will be restricted to Council members and their dates, there will be a dance open to the rest of the students. The admission will be 35 cents stag and 50 cents drag. A collection, sponsored by the Council, was taken in the home rooms on Thursday and Friday to help to bring a foreign student to Smith-Cotton again next year. The students were very generous and are anxiously hoping that one, or possibly two, students will be attending Smith-Cotton next year.

On Thursday the physics and chemistry classes at Smith-Cotton attended the "Engineer's Day" show at the Rolla School of Mines. The students were able to learn much from information given to them and from watching various interesting demonstrations. Physics and chemistry at Smith-Cotton are taught by Gerhardt Jaeger.

An assembly for the Senior High School students was held during the sixth hour Wednesday. The program was presented by the Drury College choir of Springfield and was open to the public. The choir sang various selections from "Carousel" and "Oklahoma," plus two religious numbers. Two enjoyable vocal solos were given by two of the members of the choir and a clever imitation of the popular star, Liberace, was done by one of the male singers in the group.

Blackwater District School Ranks High

At the annual school election held at the Blackwater School District 100 last Tuesday afternoon, Robert Jenkins was elected director for a three-year term succeeding John Treece whose term expires this year. A levy of one dollar and fifty-five cents was voted to maintain the school which is the same as last year. The report was made that the school is not only AAA but the highest ranking school of its kind in the state according to a recent announcement of County Superintendent Frank McGraw and the state school inspector. This rating is based on the well-arranged building, the qualifications of the teachers, the equipment and grounds.

Last week evergreen shrubbery was furnished and set out on the school grounds by the Blackwater Extension Club under direction of the Missouri Extension Service. Club members who have served on the landscaping committee the past year and are responsible for getting the job done are Mrs. W. B. Marshall, Mrs. Hall Williams and Mrs. Claude Siefkas.

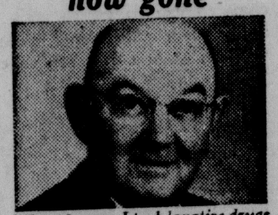
Constipation now gone



"For 15 years I took laxative drugs daily. Then I tried All-Bran. It did the trick for me," writes Mr. S. L. Leaman, Greenwood, S. C. For over 40 years good-tasting Kellogg's All-Bran has been helping folks overcome constipation by restoring the good food bulk we need daily for natural regularity. Unlike laxative drugs (that ordinarily do not contain bulk), All-Bran corrects a common cause of irregularity—lack of bulk. Try All-Bran, a bowl a day, for 10 days. If not absolutely satisfied, return the empty carton and get double your money back. Kellogg's—the original ready-to-eat bran. Delicious!

Tavern Operator Gets 5-Year Sentence On Holdup Charge

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Wilbur D. Tripp, former St. Louis County tavern operator, has received a five-year prison sentence following his conviction in connection with a $11,997 holdup.

A jury convicted Tripp Friday in the court of Circuit Judge J. Casey Walsh.

Tripp had been charged with being an accessor in the holdup April 5, 1954 of a Public Service Co. bus garage.

He denied that he had furnished a shotgun and pistol to two men who are charged with the actual robbery.

Tripp was brought here from the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., to stand trial. He is serving a six-year term there for taking part in the theft of $50,000 of whisky from an interstate shipment in 1952.

Atomic Sub, Nautilus, Docks in Miami With 20 Congressmen Aboa

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine, docked in Miami Friday.

The Nautilus, with 20 congressmen aboard, arrived last night from Key West, circling and zigzagging while the Navy tried to find dockage space.

The intended dock off Miami Beach didn't have enough water to float the 3,000-ton sub and it finally tied up at Miami.

Gov. Leroy Collins, film star Constance Bennett and a Marine Corps band missed the arrival, because of the snafu.

The congressmen went to a hotel. Their wives were taken on a guided tour of the sub as consolation. No one else was allowed aboard.

The largest single item was compensation for service-connected disabilities and pensions for total and permanent non-service disabilities. A total of 62,955 Missouri veterans received $47,255,959 in this field.

The VA said it was impossible to break down certain expenditures on a state basis so the total amount spent represents the minimum amount in Missouri.

Convicted Slayer Is Termed Mentally Incompetent by Judge

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Thurman L. Priest, 49, convicted slayer of his 11-year-old niece, Jeanette Earnest, was held to be mentally incompetent Friday by Federal Judge Joe Estes.

The ruling was handed down after a report on Priest's mental condition was made by three psychiatrists who examined Priest during his stay at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital here.

The judge ordered the former Grand Prairie, Tex., resident returned to Missouri to continue service of a life sentence he received in state court there in 1955.

If Priest had been found sane he would have been tried in federal court here under the Lindbergh kidnap law.

"God's Long Arm Reached Down to Help Me!"

For almost a lifetime, the woman had stood on the threshold of the Catholic Church—uncertain whether to come in or stay out.

"Seemingly," she says, "I was born loving the Catholic Church." This she attributes to a "small miracle," inasmuch as her parents were not Catholic, or even religious, and "our relatives and friends were none of them Catholics."

As a child, she loved to visit Catholic churches, to light candles and pray the rosary. But as she grew older... and tried to evaluate Catholic beliefs on her own limited knowledge, or upon the mistaken opinions of others... a "wall of obstacles" kept getting in the way.

In the midst of her confusion and uncertainty, she enrolled for the Knights of Columbus course of Catholic instruction which is given free by mail. And now a Catholic, she says: "I am filled with wonder and gratitude that God's long arm reached down to lift me up so tenderly."

It is unfortunate, but true, that many people seeking knowledge of the Catholic Church encounter a 'wall of obstacles" as this woman did. The reason is, usually, that so many of the "facts" they hear about the Catholic Church are not facts at all, but misrepresentations or the fruits of misunderstanding. Even those who admire and respect the Church... and who wish to hold for it only sentiments of tolerance and good-will... are often confused and deceived.

There is, of course, only one fair and proper way to understand and evaluate Catholic teachings and worship. That is by getting the facts about them from an authentic Catholic source. And that is why the Catholic Church says again and again... "INVESTIGATE!"

Maybe, after investigating, you still won't want to share the Catholic reverence for Mary. But you WILL understand it. You will know why and how Catholics obey the Pope. You will understand the Catholic attitude on salvation outside the Church... why Catholics use statues and holy water... why Catholics say the Mass is truly a Holy Sacrifice.

And now it is so easy to investigate... so easy to get the facts... without cost, trouble or embarrassment. Spells Out Requirements Vet-Farmers Must Meet for GI Bill on Farm Training

O. Myking Mehus, chief of the vocational rehabilitation and education division of the Kansas City Veterans Administration regional office, today spelled out the requirements veteran-farmers must meet in order to qualify for institutional on-farm training under the Korean GI Bill.

GI farm training, Mehus explained in answer to numerous queries, is a combination of classroom instruction plus supervised training on the farm, where the veteran can put into practice what he has been learning.

Following are the requirements for GI farm training:

What Type of Farm Must It Be?

The basic activity of a veteran's farm must be the cultivation of the land—such as raising and harvesting crops, fruits, vegetables and pastures. Or it must be the feeding, breeding and management of livestock or poultry. Or it may be any other specialized farming commonly followed in the area.

The basic activity, however, may not be the processing, distribution or sale of agricultural products—such as a dairy processing plant, a grain elevator, packing plant, florist shop, or the like.

How Large a Farm?

The farm must be large enough so that, together with the classroom portion of his course, it will take up his full time.

Also, it must be large and varied enough for him to put into practice the farm operation and management techniques he is taught and it must assure him a satisfactory livelihood, at least by the end of his program.

Must the Veteran Have Control of the Farm?

Yes, the veteran must have full control of the farm so that he will have a free hand in carrying out the farming methods he learns.

He may own the land outright, or lease it, or have a management agreement, or some other tenure arrangement.

Who Approves a Veteran's Farm Training Program?

Each veteran's individual farm training program must be approved by the appropriate approving agency of his state.

State approval is granted individually, rather than on a mass basis, because farm training programs are tailor-made to suit the needs of each individual veteran-farmer. Any VA office can inform a veteran where to write for his approval.

For How Long a Period May a Veteran Train?

There is an "outer limit" and an "inner limit" that a veteran must keep in mind.

The "outer limit" is his basic entitlement, as established by the law. This is based on one and one-half times his length of eligible service, up to a maximum of 36 months of training.

Within that "outer limit," there may be an "inner limit" — the length of time necessary for the veteran to reach his objective. This is determined individually, and depends upon his own needs for training, the nature of his farming operations, his previous experience and other factors.

How Does a Veteran Apply For GI Farm Training?

A veteran applies at his nearest VA regional office. He must submit the following papers:

A completed application form (VA Form 7-1990); a photostat or certified copy of his separation paper; a detailed outline of his training program as set up by his school; a certification from a school official stating that a standards of the law, and evidence that the veteran has control of the farm and that the training program will occupy his full time.

What Does the Farm Training Course Consist Of?

The course includes at least 200 hours per year of classroom instruction in farming and related subjects, with not less than eight hours in any one month.

It also includes at least 100 hours of individual instruction per year, with at least 50 of the hours taking place on the veteran's farm. A veteran's instructor is required to pay him at least two visits a month.

Further, it includes practical training on the farm, where the veteran carries out the practices he has been taught. Here, he can gain proficiency in such things as planning, producing, marketing, farm machines, conservation of resources, food conservation, farm financing, farm management, and the keeping of farm and home accounts.

What GI Allowance Will Farm Trainees Receive?

During his first year of training, a veteran-farmer will receive $95 a month if he has no dependents; $110 if he has one dependent, and $130 if he has more than one dependent.

After the first year, the allowance will be reduced, at four-month intervals, as the veteran progresses in his training.

When Are the Allowances Paid?

The veteran will get his monthly allowance some time after the end of each month of training completed. But before VA can pay him, it must receive a certification, signed by the veteran and his school, that he actually was taking his course during that period. Normally, a veteran's check should go out within 20 days after the time VA gets the certification.

Can a GI Farm Trainee Hold A Job on the Outside?

The law requires that a veteran's farm training course occupy his full time.

He may take on up to 180 hours of outside employment during any 12-month segment of his enrollment period, so long as his school finds that his employment does not interfere with his training program.

But he may not work for more than 180 hours during any 12-month period.

Day-for-day exchange of labor for farming operations will not be regarded as outside employment, if it's done in accordance with the farm practices of the community and if it's permitted by the school.

How About Absences for Farm Trainees?

The veteran must pursue his course in accordance with the policies of his school and the requirements of the law. If he doesn't, his GI allowance may be stopped.

May a Veteran Take Farm Training If He Already Is a Farmer?

The law prohibits veterans from training for objectives for which they already are qualified, through prior training or experience.

So a veteran would not be permitted to take farm training if:

(1) He has been successfully operating a farm similar in character to that for which the farm training course is designed to qualify him.

(2) He previously had attended a school that offered a course similar to the one he's applying for.

(3) He has been employed as a teacher of similar subject matter.

Will Have High Fidelity System---

Kiwanis Club Gives Equipment For Library 'Listening Room'

The Sedalia Public Library will soon have a "Listening Room" for its patrons comparable to those available in libraries in cities of larger size, it has been announced by the library board of directors.

Kiwanis Club has made funds available for the purchase of high fidelity component parts and equipment, which are to be assembled and installed by a member of the club, Albert Wuelfing, who is an expert in this work.

The system will consist of a custom-built amplifier system, two turntables (one for 78 rpm, the other for 45 and 33 rpm records), two speakers, one a reasonably portable concert hall system, which can be used in other places in the community, the other a permanently mounted system, and cabinets and other minor equipment. Equipment has been purchased from such manufacturers as Altec Lansing.

A basement storage room at the library is being remodelled to accommodate the Kiwanis gift. The room, which is approximately 10 by 10, will be sound proofed with acoustic board, and appropriately furnished for listening comfort. Recordings will be available for those who wish to listen to fine music faithfully reproduced in a concert hall atmosphere. Eventually it is planned to have a collection of records sufficiently large to allow them to be checked out of the library by patrons, as books and periodicals are now.

"We are very pleased with the Kiwanis Club and Mr. Wuelfing, that they have taken such an interest in our local library," said Bob Overstreet, a member of the library board, "and that they are assisting us financially in modernizing our library equipment." Phillip McLaughlin, another member of the board, also expressed appreciation, and added that "this project has so many possibilities that they cannot all be visualized at once. It is hoped that when further funds are available, we will be able to add an additional set of earphones in the reading room, where patrons may listen to music being played in the listening room below."

"We expect to be guided in our selection of records for the listening room and for circulation by some of the fine books on this subject we have in the library," said Miss Mary Kay English, librarian.

The listening room is expected to be ready for use in about a month, Miss English added. Work has already begun on the remodeling, nearly all of the music system equipment has been secured by Wuelfing, and will be installed by him as soon as possible.

Ironing Board Safety

BELLEVUE, Idaho (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gray and Mrs. Carroll McCrea almost left their ironing board behind when they returned to Bellevue from a vacation in Fresno, Calif. Now they're glad they didn't.

Near Wells, Nev., their car skidded and rolled over. The ironing board pinned three Gray and McCrea children in the back seat, saving them from possible serious injury.

Satisfied Cat

FLIN FLON, Man. (AP) — One of the village cats has been living the life of a feline Riley.

The village council has received this bill: three cans of cat food $1.12; housing and heat $3; overhead 41 cents — total $4.53. The cat was held as a rabies suspect.

"Did the cat come back?" asked one councillor.

"Why should it," replied the secretary. "It never had it so good."

Late Judge Pays

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP)—Judge Cecil Roddenberry doesn't like to keep his court waiting.

When he arrived seven minutes late at Ware Superior Court he explained he had thought court was supposed to open at 10 a.m. instead of 9.

Then the judge rejected his excuse and fined himself $49—$7 for each minute he was late.

Hold Children's Concert—

Musicians Try to Sell More Serious Music to Children

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The big gymnasium loomed bleak and forlorn against a dull, drippy sky. Inside the joint was jumping—to symphonic music.

Tiny tots, some hardly more than toddlers, clapped their hands, or danced, or made as if they were leading the orchestra.

Under a basketball scoreboard, Dr. Howard Mitchell briskly led the National Symphony Orchestra through "The Stars and Stripes Forever," the closing number of a concert designed for children from three to seven.

No one, except possibly Mitchell, would have thought of classifying this as another pleasant battle in what seems to be a nationwide revolution. Yet gradually, almost without realizing it, more and more Americans are being won over to serious music.

At least, that is the contention of some students, although they confess their views are hard to prove statistically.

Here are a few of their arguments:

1. That more people listen to good recorded music than ever before.

2. That this nation now has 960 symphony orchestras, and possibly more people listen to them than pay to watch professional baseball.

3. That serious music is making determined and successful efforts to woo new listeners, especially among the young, in ways that would have shocked music lovers in a more sedate and stuffy age. As one observer put it: "Long haired music has got itself a crewcut."

It is doubtful whether anyone has worked harder at selling serious music than energetic Howard Mitchell of the National Symphony.

By the end of this year, the symphony will have played 42 children's concerts.

In addition, it is playing 30 free concerts this spring for visiting high school students, with Mrs. Merriweather Post, of the breakfast food family, picking up the bill.

Although Mitchell firmly believes that it is easier and better to catch potential music lovers while they are young, many of his expeditions are aimed at trapping older specimens.

This explains why, during the fall of 1954 and again last year, Mitchell was happy to have the orchestra provide the halftime show at a Washington Redskins football game.

As usual, Mitchell's own critique stressed the practical.

"Any orchestra leader," he said, "would be a fool to pass up a chance to play before an audience of 30,000."

Howard Bundy Mitchell, one of six musical children, was born in Lyons, Neb., on March 11, 1911. His father, Cheever Mitchell, was a barber who soon moved his brood to Sioux City, Iowa.

There Howard grew up, sang in the choir, took piano lessons from his mother, played the tuba, trumpet, cello and, for variety, golf. At 16, he won the state cello championship and the Sioux City golf title.

Mitchell won scholarships to the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, and, later, to the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia. In 1933, only two years after it was organized by Dr. Hans Kindler, he joined the National Symphony.

When Kindler retired in 1948, Mitchell moved up to become, at 37, one of the youngest conductors of any major U.S. orchestra.

After eight years as head man, Mitchell still is far from the cartoonist's idea of a symphonic big wheel. No flying hair, no temper tantrums. When he isn't in his working clothes—that is, formal dress—he's apt to be in a sports coat, slacks and loafers.

Ralph Black, national symphony orchestra manager, says of Mitchell:

"Howard keeps his artistic standards, but he realizes what we're up against. If we tell him, 'we've got to sell out the hall for this or we're through,' he knows what we mean."

This means that Mitchell is fully aware that despite its fancy title, the national symphony has no tax money available for its support; that he knows it takes a half million dollars to run the orchestra each year; that he realizes only half of this will come from ticket sales, and that the rest must come from contributions, some large, and some as small as a dollar.

"If good music is to survive," he said recently, "ordinary salaried folks must succumb to it."

Jack Pohl was presented with a diploma for outstanding work with the Cub Scouts by Leonard Lane.

Aluminum for Survival

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Capt. Joseph Garner found a military use for kitchen aluminum foil and recently won a commendation from authorities at the Air Force Special Weapons Center at Kirtland AFB. At his suggestion, jet pilots there now carry sheets of the foil in their survival kits. Garner, an aeronautical engineer, suggested it makes good cooking utensils as well as emergency signaling reflectors for downed pilots.

Discussion goes on even at the coffee-break at the annual Standard Oil Dealers' Advisory Council meeting in Chicago. Left to right: W. H. Miller, Standard Oil assistant general manager of sales; W. C. Lane, dealer in Kansas City, Missouri; D. F. Benton, Standard Oil vice president, sales; W. H. Harrison, dealer, La Porte, Indiana; A. C. Saltstad, Standard Oil general manager, sales. INSET: August Arnoldi of Denver, Colorado; Wilbert Barnickle of Mendota, Illinois; Harlan G. Lewis of Bellevue, Nebraska—all dealers.

Sam Molen asks small businessmen:

"HAS A BIG BUSINESS EVER ASKED YOUR ADVICE?"

Well-known Sports Commentator, KMBC and KMBC-TV, Kansas City, Missouri

Denzil Watkins, Standard Oil Dealer, St. Louis, Missouri:
"This is my third year at this meeting where Standard Oil dealers discuss sales and service problems with company executives for three days. Nine dealers, who are elected by other dealers at regional meetings, give the company advice, which is always very carefully considered. The result is better service and better products!"

Manuel Mislove, Standard Oil Dealer, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
"One of the smartest things any big business can do is to consult the people who come in contact with customers. That way, it can find out first-hand what the public needs and what its sales people need to keep customers coming back. Standard Oil does just that. The company asks our advice and acts on it. And our customers benefit."

Roy Wilson, Standard Oil Dealer, Brainerd, Minnesota:
"This was my first opportunity to talk to top executives at Standard Oil about problems that are very important to dealers—products, sales and service. It's a wise company policy to talk over such matters with the men who meet the public. Actually we helped plan the meeting by first outlining the matters we wanted to discuss."

W. H. Ehrenberg, Standard Oil Dealer, St. Joseph, Mich.:
"Under the dealer advisory plan, I represent many Michigan Standard Oil dealers who elected me to meet with company officials. That's certainly an example of a big company asking for advice from small businessmen. Did you know that Standard Oil's popular plan for guaranteed radiator protection came out of a dealer-company meeting?"

What makes a business a good citizen?

Constantly improving products and services for its customers. Several years ago Standard Oil established a program for a dealer advisory council to meet annually with us in Chicago and tell us, first-hand, how they and we can better serve our millions of customers. These men are selected by their fellow-dealers for their high qualities as independent businessmen—and they do tell us! We listen and we act whenever an improvement in products or services seems mutually practical. This seems to us a fine example of large and small business giving each other a helping hand and benefiting you, our customers, in the process.

Growing with America for 125 years

In 1831, the first Savings and Loan Association in the United States was founded at Frankford, Pennsylvania. This first Association was founded to help its members save for and buy their own homes.

Today, more Americans go to insured Savings and Loan Associations for home financing than anywhere else.

6,000 new savers each day!

Today, the people of America are saving for many important things and look with special confidence to Savings and Loan Associations. The number of savers in insured Associations has increased in 125 years to over 15 million . . . and new savers are coming to these insured Associations at the rate of 6,000 each day! Assets of insured Associations have soared to $34.5 billion!

These savings dollars are not subject to market fluctuations and are protected by sound, forward-looking management and substantial reserves. Savings accounts are insured up to $10,000 by the FSLIC—a U. S. Government agency.

Responsibility to public trust

Today, Americans are putting more of their savings account dollars into insured Savings and Loan Associations than anywhere else. This tremendous vote of confidence imposes responsibility to adhere to the principles which have caused these Associations to grow with America for 125 years.

On the occasion of this 125th anniversary, the Savings and Loan Associations pledge themselves to the continuation of these principles which have enabled them to serve so successfully two of America's most cherished traditions . . . thrift and home ownership.

General Traffic Hazard

WALHALLA, S. C. (AP) — The monument to Confederate Gen. John Anders Wagener, founder of this community, has become a victim of the motor age.

The monument stood at a main intersection for 53 years without once being hit by traffic. In 1953, however, authorities decided it was a traffic hazard and moved it to a new site. Then a speeding car hit the monument, breaking it into seven pieces.

Delayed Chase

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP) — Three telephone company linemen were at work when a man drove up in a panel truck, grabbed their pole jack and sped away. The three shinnied down poles, hopped into their big truck and gave chase. When the smaller truck out-distanced them, they stopped and telephoned the sheriff's office. The linemen later admitted they had not thought to cut in with the phone each carries and call the sheriff before coming down the poles.

Sweep 13 Events In Triangular Meet With California And Versailles

(By Vic Van Dyne)

Friday afternoon the Smith-Cotton Tigers Varsity had a run-away in the triangular track meet with California and Versailles. The two visiting schools however had some game contestants in the meet.

The Tigers took 13 first places of the 14 events, seven seconds, and five third places for a total of 98 points; California, one first, three second, and six thirds for 35 points; Versailles three seconds and three third places for 16 points.

The only event the Tigers didn't finish first in was the mile run which was taken by Strickfaden of California. The Californian had a time of 4:54.0 for the mile.

Two records were broken in this meet. The shotput school record of 50 feet 6¾ inches set by Norris Kelley at Columbia this year in the tri-angular meet with Jefferson City and Columbia, was shattered when Kelley heaved the shot for 50 feet 11¾ inches. The state marks are 21 feet 3 inches for the broad jump and :15.5 for the high hurdles. Norris Kelley made the other in the shotput. The state mark is 48 feet.

Tom Noland escaped injury in pole vault when his pole snapped into as he was going for the 10' 6" mark. This didn't bother Noland as he jumped up, walked over picked up another pole and took to the air clearing the bar. He won the event. He tried for the 11.2 mark but was unable to clear the bar at that height.

The next meet for the Tigers will be Tuesday when they travel to Marshall to participate in the Missouri Valley relays. The preliminaries will be held in the afternoon and the finals at night.

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

Sedalia will soon lose one of its most ardent golfers, a person who has certainly been a credit to golf locally the past two years. Lt. Preston Moore, a member of the Country Club during that time, is with the 340th Headquarters Squadron, Air Base Group, at Whiteman AFB and is scheduled for discharge Tuesday at which time he will return to his home in Houston, Texas.

Preston, who fires par and subpar scores with apparent ease, has represented Sedalia well in outstate competition during his association with the Country Club.

He played with the Country Club's ten-man Inter-City golf team last summer against the Fulton, Jefferson City and Columbia clubs, and represented Sedalia, along with several other Sedalia golfers, in the Missouri State Amateur tournament at Kansas City last year.

This very likeable fellow has gained many new friends while here and will be remembered by Sedalians for his beaming personality, sportsmanship and contribution to golf.

I, and many others, hope that Preston will return to Sedalia sometime, possibly to reside.

Ever hear this expression concerning golf?: "Aw, who wants to or gets any enjoyment out of hitting a little ball and then chasing it all over the place?" Undoubtedly, you've heard that statement or one similar to it, made by some narrow-minded person who's never played the game and probably, in reality, has been afraid to test his skill at it for fear that he'll find embarrassment in his inability to hit the "little ball" as easily as he has expected.

The fact of the matter is, this critical non-golfer would find a great deal of enjoyment in the game and would discover golf is one of the most intricate and most difficult games to learn.

In the first place, the matter of hitting the ball isn't quite as easy as you had anticipated. That "little ball" can prove evasive to the most ferocious of swings, and, for the beginner, will probably still be sitting on the turf unmolested after several swings.

Secondly, the distance you "chase" the ball, after finally connecting with it, most likely will not be very far.

Still mulling over his experience of surprise and frustration in getting away from the first tee, the beginner would proceed to scramble around the course, trodding in and out of the wilderness and making use of the most of the hazards connected with the game, and finally concludes the first nine holes in something short of a perfect score.

Although he probably executed a number of poor shots, and a few of what he considered good ones, during the round, our beginner has developed an interest in the game and certainly sees much room for improvement in his ability to play golf.

Thus, the golf bug has bitten another one-time critic of the game and of those who play it. And it's a pretty safe bet that our beginner will be heading for the nearest course to improve his game every time he finds a few spare hours.

Golf is a very exacting game and is difficult to master, even to the best coordinated persons.

Why not try your skill at it?

Continental Congress Of DAR Will Convene

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP) — The 65th Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution will convene here Monday, an expected 5,000 strong at least.

A record number of delegates is expected, membership being at its highest peak in the 65 - year history of the DAR. The official count as of Feb. 1 was 183,554.

And this is the year, too, of the triennial elections which generally generate the heat and fervor of national political conventions.

A message from President and Mrs. Eisenhower will be read to the assembly on opening night.

75 Rookies Still On Big League Lists

Only A Handful Placed On Starting Lineups In Openers

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP) — Approximately 75 freshmen remain on major league rosters today but of these not more than a handful are likely to be in the starting lineups when the season opens next Tuesday.

The lucky ones include shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox, second baseman Charley Neal of Brooklyn, catcher Dan Kravitz of Pittsburgh, left fielder Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, shortstop Don Buddin and third baseman Frank Malzone of Boston and outfielders Dick Tettlebach and Whitey Herzog of Washington.

There's a possibility that other rookies, such as shortstop Jerry Lumpe of the New York Yankees, Catcher Lew Berberet of Washington and third baseman Sam Esposito of the Chicago White Sox may also be in the opening lineups Up to now, however, the respective managers have preferred to keep their starting squads a deep, dark secret.

Despite the comparatively small number of recruits, the starting lineups will show many new faces.

The St. Louis Cardinals will have a new left fielder, but Hank Sauer's is an old, familiar face. The former Cub slugger has earned a starting berth with his hitting during the exhibition games.

Except for second baseman Spook Jacobs, recalled from Columbus, the Kansas City Athletics will present the same lineup although Hector Lopez has been switched from third to center field and Jim Finigan from second to third.

It's no surprise that not a single rookie pitcher has been nominated for the openers but some of them are expected to receive starting assignments in the near future. The most promising young pitchers appear to be Pat Cantlebury and Tom Acker of Cincinnati, Bob Trowbridge and Red Murff of Milwaukee, Jim Owens of Philadelphia, Art McMahan and Mel Waters of Pittsburgh, Joe Margoneri of the Giants, Don Drysdale and Ken Lehman of Brooklyn, Dave Sisler of Boston, Bud Daley of Cleveland, Troy Herriage of Kansas City, Bill Fischer and Joe Dahlke of the White Sox, Pete Wojey of Detroit, Don Ferrarese of Baltimore and Hal Griggs and Connie Grob of Washington.

Rookie infielders likely to stick include Don Blasingame (Cards), Rance Pless (Athletics), Tony Kubek (Yankees), and Forest Castleman (Giants). The most impressive of the new outfielders include Dave Melton and Al Pilarcik of the Athletics.

Park Board Calls Meeting of Team Representatives

The Sedalia Park Board, realizing the headaches of scheduling of the Liberty Park and the Center Park ball diamonds for the season, have called a meeting for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night, April 18.

All teams, semi-pro, Ban Johnson, Babe Ruth and those who expect to use Liberty Park diamond, must have a representative at this meeting. Softball teams expecting to use Center Park are also expected to have someone on hand to represent their team as dates are given out.

"Indications Liberty Park will get a lot of use this spring," said a park board member, "results in an endeavor to set up a schedule to try and satisfy all. Each team must have a representative present, otherwise it may get cut short on playing dates at the park."

The meeting will be held at Convention Hall in Liberty Park.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THE Sedalia Industrial League came near to dying in 1956. It would have been a sad passing as this league has provided some real entertainment in softball at Housel Park these past several seasons. But recent reports it has been given a "shot in the arm" and will survive another summer.

Monday night will be the real tell-tale of the survival however. At this time all teams must have a representative at a meeting to be held at Jefferson School at 7 p.m., or a sponsor representative. At this meeting election of officers for the year will be held.

The plan as given me this past weekend is that the officers will not be burdened down with all the work either. The 1956 program will be a more co-operative deal between the teams. Each team will have to carry part of the load of work which goes along with handling the league.

There have been several teams in the league which heretofore played ball, but oft time came up short in players. This year a team will have to have a full register and players who want to play regularly so the schedules will not be up set.

Recently a meeting with members of the League and the Sedalia Park Board resulted in the league learning the Park Board wasn't so "hard boiled" as one would be led to believe. The Board has come forth and offered its help in seeing the League continues. They want activity at Housel Park, and the Industrial League has provided some good clean activity there for several seasons.

So teams who are interested must have representation at this meeting, otherwise the team not present will be dropped from the 1956 schedule and the organization will go forward Monday night and the plans for the season worked out at this time. If a team isn't represented, the players shouldn't feel bad they are dropped, it is strictly business now and survival of the League.

Just a note to fans who go out to Housel Park and witness these games. When the hat is passed don't turn your head like some people have been doing in the past. If it is only a dime, if the more than 200 fans there would put in a dime or 20 cents for a full evening of entertainment, the financial problems of the league will be solved. These players don't get paid for playing, they do it because of the recreation and fun they have.

But the lights, balls and caretaker must be taken care of and this runs into a rather stiff figure. Dig down when the hat is passed, the teams will appreciate it and I know you fans will not have a feeling you have gone for a "free ride."

ATTENTION baseball teams who plan to use Liberty Park Diamond this summer. The Park Board has requested me to give a little "added touch" calling attention to a meeting to be held Wednesday night for team managers and sponsors. The meeting will be at Liberty Park Convention hall at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss playing dates on the park diamond for Sundays and weekday nights. There are so many dates to be allotted and if a team isn't represented at this meeting, it is their last chance to be counted in for any dates at all.

Teams which will probably play there are the newly organized Semi-Pro club, the Ban Johnson team and Babe Ruth League.

WHAT happened to Ben Hogan in the 1956 Masters? That's a question which has been pounding the ears of Frankie Reynolds, a long time admirer of Hogan's who he had declared would win the Masters this year.

Ben was a great golfer in his day, but like a lot of us, he can't keep up with youth. Hogan did finish in the money, displaying that old fight and a game heart.

WRESTLING at the National Guard Armory has caught on. One thing for sure the promotion by Gust Karras has been rewarding to both the local fans and the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion.

With proper handling of match making, with the securing of top material for the fans, it has been proven the fans will keep coming as long as they know they are getting the best in the business. Karras promised the Legion he would operate only if he could get the top "brass" of wrestling working in the arena and he has kept his word.

Proving this point was last January when Karras postponed a date because he could get nothing but second and third rate wrestlers. When the wrestlers learned he would go along with nothing but the best for his numerous "spots" in Western Missouri, they came through.

Karras has some new talent which is invading the Kansas City and St. Joseph area within the next few days. "I'll look 'em over before booking and matching them for either Marshall, Sedalia, St. Joseph or Chillicothe. If they are good you'll see them, if not there will be no show until they get better talent," Karras remarked.

Santee Posts 4:12.3 Mile For Quantico

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., April 14 (AP)—Wes Santee ran his first race in more than a month here today and posted the unexceptional time of 4:12.3 for the Quantico Marines in a dual meet with William and Mary.

Never pushed by the two other service men and two William and Mary freshmen who ran against him, Santee won by nearly 100 yards. He had opened up a 50-yard gap by the end of the first lap.

Santee was clocked in 61 seconds for the first quarter, 2:05 for the half and 3:08 for the three-quarter mile.

Lary Will Face Kansas City In Tigers-Athletics Opener

DETROIT, April 14 (AP)—Strong-armed Frank Lary, the guitar-strumming righthander from Alabama, leads the Detroit Tigers against the Kansas City Athletics Tuesday at Briggs Stadium in their American League opener.

A crowd of upwards of 45,000 is expected to be on hand for the clash between the Tigers who finished fifth last season, and the Athletics, who wound up sixth

Although the Tigers could do no better last year than 79 victories against 75 losses—and 17 games behind the pennant-winning New York Yankees—they will show few new faces in 1956.

Only 21-year-old Reno Bertoia at second base is a newcomer to the regular ranks. The ex-bonus player now in his fourth year with the club, hit only 2.06 in 38 games last season. But Manager Bucky Harris will go along at least temporarily with the youngster. Though his average has not picked up much during spring training, Bertoia has been meeting the ball well and a lot of work with Coach Billy Hitchcock has improved his fielding

The probable lineup:

Cooperation Key To '56 Industrial League Operation

The Industrial League may be saved for 1956. At least it is in the making to continue the league under a more co-operative manner this season by compelling all teams to take more part in the operation.

The Sedalia Park Board recently met with representatives of the League to discuss their problem of continuance and they have been assured some help from the Board. The Board has again designated the Housel Park for the Industrial league.

On Monday night the Teams which have played in the League in the past must have a representative at a meeting to be held at Jefferson School. The meeting is to be called at 7 p.m.

Any team which does not have a representative either in a team manager or a sponsor at the meeting, will be dropped from the 1956 program. As pointed out by a spokesman "We would rather have a strong six or eight team league playing than a weak 12 team league. Hence if we do have representatives from 12 teams, this will indicate the strength will be given, but if less, those teams showing interest in this meeting will be the ones showing strength."

The annual election of officers will be held at this meeting. Therefore, to vote and have a part, representatives' presence must be assured.

There were an estimated 100 gray whales in the world in 1939; 4,500 today.

Little LEAGUERS

The try-outs for Sedalia Little League will be held at the Little League Stadium, starting April 16 and continuing until April 25. These try-outs are for all boys who are not assigned to any major league team.

Try-outs will be divided into three age groups due to the large number of boys participating in Little League.

All boys taking part in the try-outs are required to have a physical examination and a registration card signed by one of their parents. Those who still have cards out may bring them along with their birth certificate to the try-outs.

After the try-outs the boys assigned to major league teams will be notified by May 3. All other boys will be assigned to minor league teams as soon as possible.

Try-outs will start promptly at 5 p.m. on days scheduled. There will be no tryouts on Tuesay to prevent conflict with the regular grade school baseball games.

The schedule for try-outs is April 16, 8- and 12-year-olds; April 18, 10-year-olds; April 19, 9- and 11-year-olds; April 20, 8- and 12-year-olds; April 23, 10-year-olds; April 25, 8- and 11-year-olds.

MELBOURNE, April 14—(AP)—World mile record holder John Landy will attempt to better his Australian 1,500-meter record tomorrow. His present national mark is 3:44.4.

Tomorrow Landy will be running on a grass track at St. Kilda Cricket Ground. His main opponents will be Ron Clarke and John Murray.

Two-Stroke Penalty For Striking Pole Is Dropped—

Touring Pros Generally Favor Altered Golf Rule On Flagstick

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 14 (AP) — Touring professional golfers today voiced approval of the new rule permitting them to leave the flagstick in the hole without danger of a penalty if their ball hits the stick.

A sampling of opinion among players here for the Greensboro Open tournament showed them generally favoring the change, although critics of it were equally firm in their belief that it was not a good rule.

Before this year, in stroke play if a player, within 20 yards of the hole, struck the stick with the ball he incurred a two stroke penalty.

This year there is no penalty for striking an unattended flagstick, regardless of the distance, in both match and stroke play.

Spectators at winter tournaments have witnessed the unusual sight of players putting with the stick remaining in the hole. It has been especially helpful on dangerour downhill putts where if a ball is stroked too boldly and misses the hole it may well slide 10 or 15 feet past its mark.

Now, with the stick there to act as a buffer the chances are that it may stop the ball enough to prevent it from rolling madly by the hole. The U. S. Golf Assn. said it hoped the rule would help speed up play, saving time lost previously by having the stick removed.

Henry Cotton, three-time British Open champion, agreed that considerable time has been saved, especially on trap shots. "I thought the old rule was a bad one, anyway," he commented. "Why specify 20 yards, or any particular number?"

Sam Snead said he was all for the new rule and felt that while they were about it the rule makers should make two more changes —make the club limit 16 instead of 14 and ease the two-strokes charged for putting a ball out of bounds.

On the other side of the fence was Jay Hebert, the handsome Sanford, Fla., pro. "I don't like it. It's not golf. It doesn't look good," he said emphatically.

"If a man has to have a stick in the hole to aim at when he's only 18 or 20 feet away he shouldn't have a putter in his hand. The rule should be changed for next year."

Frank Starfaci, the New York amateur, was the most vehement critic of the new rule during the recent Wilmington Azalea Open. "I want to know what the USGA was thinking about when they voted it in," he asked. "If they want to save time there are other ways of saving time, but I wonder if they gave enough thought to the consequences when they voted for it."

Wampler Moves Into Greensboro Open Golf Lead

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 14—(AP)—Poker faced Fred Wampler, of Indianapolis, matched the Starmount Forest course record with a seven under par 64 today to come from nine strokes off the pace and take the 54-hole lead of the greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament by one stroke today.

Wampler's 208 total left him one stroke ahead of Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who had a five-shot edge on the field after 36 holes, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo.

Snead, butten by a rash of bogies, soared to 74 while Stranahan, who played with him, carded 68.

In fourth place at 210, only two strokes from the lead, were Bill Casper Jr., of Chula Vista, Calif., and Jerry Kesselring, Toronto, Canada. Casper had 69 today and the 27-year-old Kesselring finished with three threes for a 67.

S-C Frosh Trip Marshall On Oval Here

The Smith-Cotton High School Freshmen came through Saturday afternoon to win the dual track meet with the Freshmen Owls of Marshall at the Jennie Jaynes Stadium. The Tigers scored 59½ points to Marshall's 49 2/3. points.

Although going into the final event, the mile relay, the Tigers were leading 54⅓ points to Marshall's 49 2/3 points, a lost in the event would have put the Tigers on the short end by ⅓ of a point. The relay brought in five more points to the winner.

Much interest was displayed by the Smith-Cotton Tiger Freshmen in this dual meet. Coaches Norman James and Forrest Arnall were impressed by the showing of the future Varsity thinclads. They are endeavoring to give as much time as possible to the group and more meets are scheduled for the Freshmen.

The Results:

Shoemaker Rides Swaps In Record Win

Derby Champ Cops Broward Handicap, Sets World Mark

MIAMI, Fla., April 14—(AP)—The mighty Swaps returned to the races today after a two-month layoff and carried the heaviest burden of his career to a world record-shattering victory in the $25,000 Broward Handicap at Gulfstream Park.

Making his first Florida appearance, Rex Ellsworth's 1955 Kentucky Derby champion, thrilled a crowd of 20,345 when he shouldered 130 pounds and hauled it to an easy victory over seven other thoroughbreds in the test at a mile and 70 yards. Willie Shoemaker was the jockey.

Never threatened after the horses rounded the far turn, the big chestnut colt was clocked in 1:39 3/5, breaking the record of 1:40 set by South Dakota at River Downs in 1945.

It was the second record established by the California speedster. At Hollywood Park last June, he set a new standard of 1:40 2/5 for a mile and a sixteenth.

Press Problem Is Troubling Prince Rainier

MONTE CARLO, April 14 (AP)—Prince Rainier III and a handful of Monacan officials grappled this week with mounting press problems posed by the Rainer-Kelly wedding.

"I don't want this wedding to become a circus," said the Prince. "I want it to be dignified—and I can be brutal about it if I have to."

Whatever his views are on a circus, his principality is beginning to look somewhat like it. Gay lights ring the harbor. Officials have strung flags an bunting everywhere. Powerful spotlights are being installed to light up the court yard in front of the palace, where lavish spectacles are planned. Barber pole striped flagpoles have been put up at the border so the visitors immediately knows something is afoot.

Rainier has insisted from the first on approving press arrangements, although he was perfectly frank in admitting he has no experience in such matters.

Plans for the press coverage of the two marriages — civil and church—have changed numerous times. As of today here's how they stand:

Civil ceremony in the small throne room of the palace on Wednesday—20 representatives of press, radio, television and newsreel in a place with a total capacity for about 80.

Religious rites in Monaco cathedral on Thursday—100 representatives of press, radio, television and newsreels.

Three "official photographers" will cover certain small parties and the official celebrations and supply their pictures to the others.

"I want to see those pictures before they're handed out," said the Prince, "for I know how certain photographers operate. They'll take 50 pictures of you and then use only the one in which you're blowing your nose."

To accommodate those with no passes to the two weddings, the Prince has installed TV sets in Monaco's Oceanographic Museum located about 500 yards from the catheral and 1,000 yards from the palace.

TV Monte Carlo will televise the marriages.

Lumpe Sacrifices Winning Tally As Yanks Beat Bums

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Could yesterday have been April in October?

Not according to the calendar, but the way the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers went at it in Ebbets Field, you would have thought the 1956 edition of the world series had started.

This was the first appearance of the two clubs in the Flatbush oval since last year's series, and the Yanks came out on top in a chiller, 1-0. They both have been picked to repeat in their respective leagues by a wide majority in the annual Associated Press writers' poll.

Bob Turley and Bob Grim combined to wield the whitewash brush for the Yanks. Turley went six innings and allowed three hits while Grimm threw the final three and gave up only one hit. Turley, who will open the season for the New Yorkers, now has tossed 11 straight scoreless innings.

The Yanks' scored their run in the fourth on singles by Elston Howard and Turley, a walk by Hank Bauer and a sacrifice fly by Jerry Lumpe, of Warsaw, Mo. Brook starter Roger Craig was the victim.

Police Stage Surprise Raids On Dope Users

NEW YORK (AP)—Police staged a surprise all-night roundup of narcotics users and sellers and by dawn Saturday had arrested 90 persons.

Seventeen women were among those arrested. One suspected dope peddler was shot and critically wounded in Brooklyn.

Among those arrested was Harvey Wurtsburger, 17, who in 1954 ran off to Washington, D.C., with Deborah Ann Fine, 16, and $5,800 of her father's money. Returned to their Bronx home, the couple ran away again. Wurtsburger was charged with possessing a small amount of heroin.

The all-night roundup resembled one conducted last November when 104 persons were arrested. This time 150 members of the narcotics squad and 13 policewomen participated.

The man shot in Brooklyn was identified as Anthony Marengo, 25. He was shot when two detectives became suspicious of his actions and those of another man.

He was wounded in the neck and left arm while running. The second man escaped in a car. Marengo was arrested on charges of felonious assault, carrying a forged driving license and carrying a weapon without a license.

Relief pitcher Hal Jeffcoat of Cincinnati had the best earned run record (2.94) as a member of the Chicago Cubs last season.

Enos Helps A's Crush Cards, 6-3

Slaughter Clouts Two-Run Revenge Homer In Seventh

KANSAS CITY, April 14 (AP) — Enos (Country Boy) Slaughter heaped a bit of revenge on the St. Louis Cardinals today.

The Kansas City outfielder, sold down the river two years ago by the Cards after 15 seasons in St. Louis, smacked a 2-run homer to give the A's a 6-3 victory in the first meeting of the two Missouri clubs.

The score was tied 3-3 and two were out when Slaughter lined a home run over the right field fence with Spook Jacobs on first. Suitcase Simpson, another castoff who has found himself with the Athletics followed with another. This blast by the former Cleveland outfielder sent Luis Arroyo to the showers. Rookie George Schultz came in and got Gus Zernial on a popup to end the inning.

The Cardinals went ahead in the first when Wally Moon hit Bobby Shantz' first pitch over the fence. They got two more off the little Kansas City lefthander in the third. Moon drove in Alex Grammas, who had tripled, and Red Schoendienst followed with a double to plate Moon. That was all they got off Shantz, who went five innings, and Art Ditmar, who hurled the final four frames.

Willard Schmidt pitched the first five innings for the Cards and held the A's to two hits and one run. Arroyo was wild and walked two in the sixth before he ran into his seventh inning shellacking. Jim Finigan's single, a walk to Mike Baxes and Ditmar's sacrifice set the stage for two wild pitches that scored the tieing runs. Then Slaughter and Simpson cut loose.

The Cards outhit the Kansas Citians 7-6, getting four off Shantz and three off Ditmar, the winning pitcher.

The two clubs meet here again tomorrow.

Accuses Demos Of Wanting Veto On Farm Bill

INDIANAPOLIS, April 14 (AP)—Rep. Charles A. Halleck (-Ind) today accused Democrats of "striving for partisan advantage, maneuvering for a presidential veto rather than for a good (farm) bill."

In an address prepared for a joint luncheon of the Indiana Republican Editorial Assn. and the Republican State Committee, Halleck renewed his prediction that President Eisenhower would veto the controversial farm bill.

The House minority whip conceded that many farmers "find themselves today in an intolerable cost-price squeeze" because of the problem of surpluses, but he added that the farm bill as finally passed by Congress is "completely unworkable."

Halleck, who is seeking his 12th consecutive term in the House, urged an end to factionalism within the Republican party in order to regain control of Congress, which he characterized as an "uphill battle."

"Of one thing we may all be certain," he said. "We won't win an election with two Republican parties—in Indiana or anywhere else."

"Let's not delude ourselves that all is sweetness and light within our own ranks," said Halleck.

He attributed the Republican loss of Congress in 1954 partly to too many Republicans "sulking when they should have been playing on the team."

Kansas Whips Aggies, 86-45—

Nieder Becomes Second Man To Top 60 Feet In Shotput

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 14—(AP)—Bill Nieder, a prime candidate for the U. S. Olympic track and field team, today put the shot 60 feet 3 inches in leading the University of Kansas to an 86-45 victory over Oklahoma A. & M. in a dual meet today.

Nieder's effort made his the second man in history to put the 16-pound shot 60 feet or better. Only world record holder Parry O'Brien, former Southern California great, has better marks than Nieder.

O'Brien set the world standard at 61 feet 5¼ inch. He also is credited with a 60 foot 10 inch job.

Nieder's great put was the top performance as five meet records were broken, three of them by Kansas sophomores.

Bob Orter uncorked a discus throw of 174 feet 3 inches for one of the better marks in that event this season. Kent Floerke won the broad jump at 24 feet 6½ inches and Bob Cannon took the high jump on a leap of 6 feet 4 inches.

Jim Graham of Oklahoma A. & M. came up with the other meet record in the pole vault. He cleared 14 feet 5⅞ inches.

Capt. Dick Blair of Kansas was the only double winner. Blair won the 100 yard dash in 9.8 seconds and the 220 in 23.1. In each event he nipped J. W. Washburn, Oklahoma A. & M.'s sprints Olympic candidate.

Nieder, who set a national intercollegiate record of 59-9 in the Texas Relays last week, had three other puts within inches of 60 feet today. The 225-pound Nieder, a senior from Lawrence, Kan., now has six puts better than 59 feet this year.

Emergency Plane Landing Here Saturday

Joe Orr, Mission, Kan., made an emergency landing at the Sedalia Municipal Memorial Airport about 8 p. m. Saturday.

Orr, who was flying from Galesburg, Ill., reported he checked his gasoline gauges and it appeared he was running too low on fuel to continue his trip to the State Line Airport at Kansas City. He knew he was over Sedalia and began circling to try and find the flying field.

He was able to pick up the runway by the reflection of the lights from the Cook's Sales and Service Co., and then came in for a landing. He said he lost the air strip after passing the Cook's sign, but came on in. The plane came to a stop near a small ditch, but was not damaged in the landing.

After refueling the plane and checking it, he had it "tied down" and remained over night here. He said he planned to leave early this morning for the hour's flight to his home airport.

Crows Go To Town

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A U.S. Fish and Wildlife official here says that crows are moving into the residential areas of the city. The gravel-voiced intruders, which used to make the valley farm land their quarters, are infiltrating into the plushier, clipped hedge and patio section of the city.

"They are extremely adaptable," the official said.

British Agency Sued For Infringement On Atomic Patent

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Atomic Energy Authority announced it is being sued by a British firm for alleged infringement of a basic atomic energy patent worked out by Italian scientists. The Italian group included Buno Pontecorvo, now a big man in the Soviet thermonuclear race.

The patent covers a key process in making istopes of the heavy elements. These are the basic ingredient of most forms of atomic energy.

Discovery of the isotope process led to the building of the world's first atomic pile, in Chicago during World War II.

An AEA spokesman said Philips Electric Ltd. of London had brought the suit. It holds the patents worked out by an Italian research team under Dr. Enrico Fermi in 1935.

Pontecorvo, then working in the physics department of Rome University, was a member of the team.

The London News Chronicle said the patent is the same one for which the United States paid Italian scientists $300,000 in 1953 after a court fight.

Man Finds His Father Dead Under Tractor

SLATER, Mo. (AP)—Mrion Ryan, working in a lumber yard near the railroad tracks here, was hailed by the flagman of a freight train as the train pulled into town Friday.

"There's a man pinned under a tractor out there in that field," the flagman shouted.

Ryan drove out to the field a half-mile from town along the railroad tracks and found the overturned tractor.

The dead man under the machine was his father, Phillip Ryan, about 60.

Benton County Enterprise Has Its Diamond Anniversary

Four Generations of White Family Have Contributed Their Talents To Both Its Success, Longevity

By MRS. CLAUDE PONDER
Warsaw Correspondent

Back in 1842, a gentleman by the name of Bevin started a newspaper at Warsaw called the "Osage Valley."

Bevin, according to Judge Henry Lay's "History of Benton County," was an eccentric man — he rode around the country with a large box of papers tied behind his saddle, seeking subscribers and becoming noted for his oddities.

Finally, things not going to suit him, he walked into the river on a cold day with the purpose of drowning himself.

He thocght better of it, however, and walked out again and left the county. Publication of the paper was suspended.

Now the "Osage Valley" was just one of numerous Warsaw papers which have come upon the scene, published briefly and suspended. There have also been the "Osage Yeoman," "Warsaw Whig," "Saturday Morning Visitor," "Osage Banner," "Democratic Review" and "Southwest Democrat."

Editors of the latter publication, incidentally, were Mark L. Means, who wielded a vigorous pen and shaped public sentiment to a large extent, and a Mr. Leach. The paper was a strong advocate of the Southern cause and was suspended by the enlistment of its proprietors in the Southern army. Editor Leach was one of the first Benton Countians to be killed in battle, dying at Cole Camp, in June, 1861, when two Warsaw Confederate companies ambushed the Cole Camp Home Guards about two miles east of that city.

Numerous editors have been on the local scene since 1835, when Benton County was organized, and they included one Thomas Benton White, who came to Warsaw 75 years ago to purchase the "Missouri Enterprise," started in 1879. Several years later, White changed the name of the paper to "Benton County Enterprise."

And while the other papers established early in the county's history have long since vanished, White's is still going strong and still being run by members of his family.

White, whom many present and older residents of Benton County recall as a distinguished looking old gentleman who always dressed immaculately and wore a goatee, was a native of Ohio. Serving with federal troops during the Civil War, he was wounded at Vicksburg and was imprisoned at Andersonville.

No Journalism Novice

He was no stranger to the newspaper business on coming to Warsaw. He "broke in" as a reporter on the Burlington, Ia., "Hawkeye," then worked on the "Rocky Mountain Daily News." Later, he started his own paper at Boulder, Colo., but moved his family of five children to Warsaw when he heard that someday, due to its fine location on the Osage River, it would be one of the largest towns in Missouri.

The Benton County Enterprise's first quarters were in an old steamboat, "The River Queen," which White had hauled up to Main Street, where it still stands.

The steamboat was built on to a log cabin structure, one of the oldest buildings in Warsaw. Its age was testified to back in 1913, when the paper bought its first linotype. It was necessary to remove part of the wall to get the machine in and it was found that the building was constructed of logs, with openings needed for "gun-play" with Indians. Down inside the wall were found a piece of a human skull, containing several bullet holes and also a small leather pouch which had three hand-made bullets inside it.

White's children, Lowell, Mabel, Mahlon, Laura, and Joe, all helped with the operation of the paper, the girls hand-setting type and the boys becoming proficient in the operation of the old Washington hand press, which now stands in the yard of the old Enterprise office at Warsaw.

White was active in the editing of the newspaper until his death in the 1920's. He was known over the state for his forceful editorials, in which he minced no words, and sometimes was threatened with violence by disgruntled subscribers. His "Pet Peeve," editorially, concerned revival preachers who came to Warsaw for a week's stand and left with well-filled pockets.

While White's two daughters, Laura and Mabel, chose teaching careers, both graduating from the University of Missouri, his sons preferred to follow in their father's footsteps.

Lowell worked on a newspaper at Fayette, and later in Columbia, with the late Walter Williams, founder of the University of Missouri School of Journalism. In 1906, he purchased the Benton, Ark., Courier, which he built into one of the largest and best-known weeklies in that state. He retired two years ago, in his 80's, due to arthritis, and now lives in Little Rock.

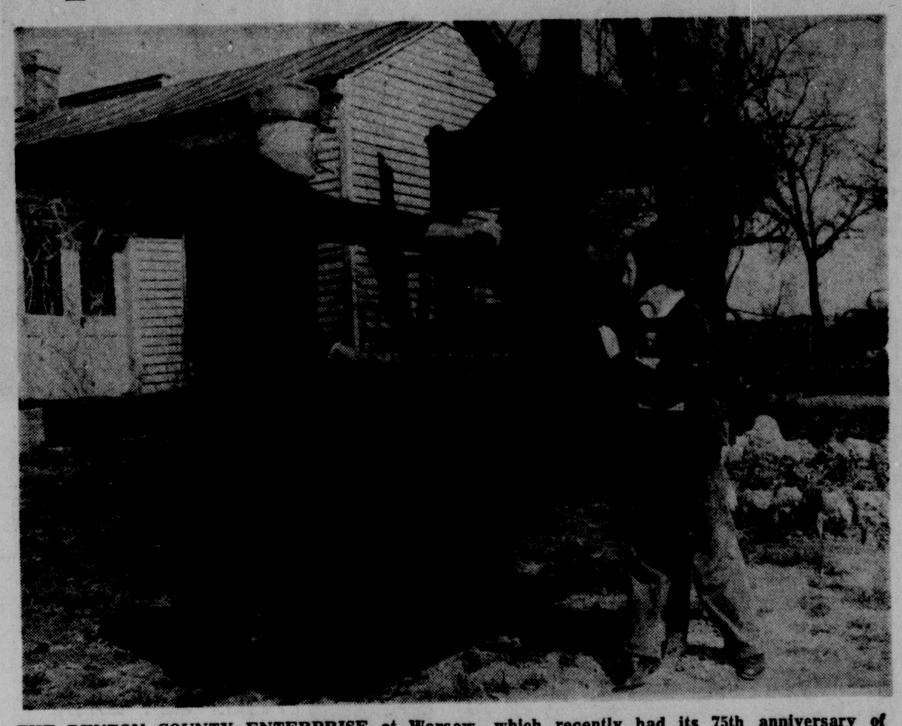
Joseph White worked on papers in Nashville, Philadelphia, Jackson, Miss., and Manhattan, Kan., later purchasing the Enterprise at Cabool, Mo., which he sold when he retired due to ill health. He died in 1934.

Edwin Stays in Warsaw

Edwin Mahlon White stayed on in Warsaw, editing his father's Benton County Enterprise. He had started his newspaper career in 1887, when he was ten, standing on a box in the old Enterprise office while learning to set type.

He hadn't intended becoming a newspaperman, preferring medicine as a career, and after his graduation from the Warsaw school in 1894 he earned a portion of the money for higher education in a shooting exhibition, as he was an expert marksman. He was also a skilled athlete and boxer, contesting professionally in the prize ring in St. Louis and in special bouts on Mississippi River steamboats.

He was graduated from Warrensburg State Normal and then enrolled at John Hopkins University, but came back to Warsaw when his father suffered stock market reversals. From 1896-99, before beginning active work on the Enterprise, he worked in the upper house of the Missouri Legislature under Cornelius Roach, then secretary of state. He was married to Lydia Neill, daughter of Henry Neill, Warrensburg lawyer.



THE BENTON COUNTY ENTERPRISE at Warsaw, which recently had its 75th anniversary of ownership by the White family, was first printed on the old Washington hand-press shown in this picture, taken 15 years ago. On the left is the late Edwin Mahlon White, editor of the Enterprise for many years, and with him is his grandson, Mahlon Kelly White, who now works as a reporter-photographer on the paper, which his great-grandfather purchased in 1881. In the background is a portion of the old office, which is an old river steamboat built onto an early-day log cabin.

From 1899 until 1938, when the paper was consolidated into The Benton County Guide and he became president of the Benton County Publishing Co., White edited the Enterprise. From his father, he had inherited a talent for forceful writing and he had the knack of telling a story in brief sentences.

Active in civic affairs in Warsaw, he was an influential Democrat and was a delegate to the national Democratic convention in St. Louis in 1916, also serving as chairman of the Benton County Democratic committee for a number of years.

In 1938, the Benton County Enterprise consolidated with The Warsaw Times and Cole Camp Courier to form the Benton County Guide, with E. M. White as one of the editors.

Upon his death in 1943, his only child, Mahlon Neill White, took his place in the corporation. A graduate of William Jewell College, where he was known for his ability on the basketball court, this third-generation member of the White editorial family had worked on the paper since 1929. He had built up a wide readership for his "Much About Nothing" column, which concerned the foibles of county residents, and had also promoted the Warsaw Lake of the Ozarks area through his stories about Skunk Hide Jim Turner and Old Blue, a mythical giant catfish in the lake waters.

Some Changes Occur

The newspaper at this time, had moved from the old steamboat into a larger building which E.M. White had constructed on Main Street. Circulation had passed the 3,000 mark and two presses had printed the news of Benton County since the old Washington hand press had been retired from service. And another third-generation member of the T. B. White family was on the office scene, Joseph White, II, who directed (and still directs) mechanical operations of the paper.

During World War II, Editor White served in army public relations. He worked with his future son-in-law, Daniel Black Miles, a native of Marshall and former state Daily Pantagraph, out of San Francisco, directing publicity on government-sponsored campaign to recruit workers for railroads. (They are still working together, incidentally, editing the Clinton Daily Democrat.)

White's wife, the former Kathleen Kelly of Liberty, not only had the care of four children at this time but also stepped into her husband's shoes (mighty big one's too, as he's a towering six foot four inches) in the newspaper office. She later received a Molly Pitcher journalism award for her efforts in wartime editorship.

This year, White purchased the interest of Edwin Wikins in the Benton County Publishing Co., making the White family sole owners of the corporation, and, as of March 1, changed the name of the Warsaw paper back to the Benton County Enterprise.

Considerable changes were made in the make-up of the paper at this time, with printing now done on a Duplex press and new page-make up and type faces being added.

The Enterprise is now edited by White's daughter, Kathleen White Miles, 28, a 1949 graduate of the University of Missouri school of journalism. Before coming back to Warsaw Mrs. Miles was one of the editors of the Clinton Daily Democrat, which is owned by the White and Miles families.

The fourth-generation editor of the paper, like her predecessors, is active in Missouri newspaper circles, being secretary of the Advertising Managers Association of Missouri and secretary of the newly-formed Democratic Editors of Missouri. And, like the other White editors, she enjoys writing — last year winning second place in the United States for one of her editorials in a national Federation of Press Women's contest. She and Mr. Miles are the parents of five children, Daniel Black, 5, Ellen, 4, Mahlon White, 3, Jane, 1½, and Frank, one month.

The Tadition Continues

Mr. and Mrs. White also have another daughter and son, who are following the family profession. Mahlon Kelly White, 21, works as a reporter-photographer for both the Benton County Enterprise and the Clinton Daily Democrat, and also attended Central Missouri State College. Another daughter, Jane Ellen White, 25, who has a degree in journalism from Missouri University is in public relations with A.T.& T. in Kansas Cty, after working for a year as advertising manager on the Clinton paper. Daughter Lydia White, 12, is still in school, but says, when grown, she'd "like to spend her time running the Enterprise and shooting rabbits."

The present Enterprise staff has five members, Mrs. Miles, Mahlon K. White, Joseph White, Mrs. Mildred Kauffman, and Bob Mussman, advertising manager, who came from Springfield March 1 to join the staff. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mussman of Cole Camp.

What are the future plans for the paper, which had its diamond anniversary in the White family, on March 1?

Well, the family plans to construct a new Enterprise plant where the old steamboat now stands.

And they want to move the old Washington handpress from the old office yard, into drier quarters.

"Moving back to that corner's a wonderful idea," said M. N. White, "as I can sit there in that yard, keep one eye on the river and the other on Main Street to see what's going on."

"As for the old Washington handpress, I'd kinda like to get it running again. If times get rought—or an H-Bomb is dropped — who knows? We might need it."

Your Wardrobe

by Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

If ever there was a summer when you could have a tremendous variety of fabrics and styles as well as color this is it. In the heavier fabrics such as broadcloth, pique and linen the assortment is large, in the more sheer family you will find violets, dotted swiss and new fabrics that require very little if any ironing. Some of the later arrivals in sheers will have very full skirts with wide hems and lacey trim. They will also have skirts that are lined so you won't have to worry about a matching slip. Dresses of this type will be much in demand for more dressy occasions as they will be unusually pretty with large picture hats. It is a year when you can have matching shoes and purses to go with your dresses in several different shades. Blue, pink, yellow, beige and white are all popular colors in dresses as well as shoes and purses. Very few dresses are being shown that aren't at least hand washable so take advantage of what is available and be lovely to look at around the clock in as many colors as you so desire.

Spring Fever In The Air- - -

Sound sleepers won't appreciate the comments of those who were somewhat terrified by Spring's first real bombardment about 4 o'clock Saturday morning. Electrical discharges and thunderclaps had household pets running for cover under beds or trying to get on top of them; and sleepy-eyed householders running to close windows although this was scarcely necessary since the storm was all noise and little moisture.

Despite the frightful clatter of the night, the sun was out Saturday morning, the air was fresh, the birds were singing—Spring was in the air. One may be excused for becoming so enraptured if there is license for an Associated Press writer to send a lead dispatch from Monte Carlo: "Radiant Grace Kelly and her prince walked hand-in-hand in the palace gardens. . . Even a gentle spring rain didn't spoil their obvious pleasure at being together. A palace spokesman didn't say how long the stroll lasted."

Love can be wonderful even in the watching, if it moved something like that over telegraph wires and radio around the world to the drooling love birds who want to be informed about every move the princess-to-be makes. Sure enough it's for the birds.

But right on top of this beautiful Spring day here in Sedalia, like it is in Monte Carlo, we hope—the suggestion department receives a comment that there ought to be some way to encourage people having property along the highway entrances into town to make their places more attractive. Particular emphasis is placed on the acres of rusty tin and remnants of demolished automobiles which have become the basic foundation of junk yards.

There is no doubt that junk yards are unsightly, but there's no law against a person buying a parcel of land along a highway to make a living out of such a business. Something has to be done with the junked automobiles which are smashed up by speed demons.

The traveling public which is responsible for the automobile junk yards would like to see them located in a less conspicuous place than along an attractive highway entering a city like Sedalia.

But you can't keep a man from buying property to locate such a yard any place he wants to unless the public imposes zoning restrictions which extend two or three miles into the county.

The easier solution to lovers of the landscape would be to attempt persuasion, trying to convince the junk yard owner of the aesthetic value of his property if it was surrounded by shrouding, beautiful shrubbery. But are junk yard sales profitable enough to provide revenue for such delicate landscaping?

Well, any more suggestions while Spring is budding?

Luce Presses Stop at White House Nod

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Fortune Magazine, published by Ike's close friend, Henry Luce of Time, Life and Fortune, has been having a secret hassle with the White House over an article on the National Security Council.

In the end, Fortune bowed to White House "censorship," stopped the presses, and yanked the article out of its April issue. Since several thousand copies already had been run off, it cost the Luce Publishing empire quite a little money.

Involved was no breach of security, but about a hundred small changes in text. These altered specific details about National Security Council meetings so that the workings of the council, which the Fortune article described, were more general.

The changes were not ordered by the President, and he knew nothing about them. They were actually ordered because White House aides were afraid the President would get sore when he saw the article in print. They knew he was quick to lose his temper over publication of anything about the inside workings of Security Council over which he presides, ing with Vice President Nixon, Secretary of te Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, and er top-ranking cabinet advisers.

The article also showed the tremendous new wer given to the council, power to make deisions which in previous administrations have been made by the President as commander-in-chief.

Most significant aspect of the incident was that the Luce organization, though violating no security, was willing to stop the presses and make the heavy expenditure involved in revamping the entire April issue.

The Luce publications have become the virtual house organs of the Eisenhower administration. In addition to Mrs. Luce who serves as U. S. ambassador to Italy, Fortune publisher C. D. Jackson once served as psychological warfare adviser on the White House staff, while Emmett Hughes, Ike's best ghost writer during his first year in the White House, has now rejoined the Luce publications.

Recently, in his talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada, President Eisenhower put the Canadian magazine tax against American publications first on the agenda for discussion.

Ike's Future

It was overlooked by newsmen, but a top Republican spokesman made some startlingly frank remarks the other day about Ike's decision to run again.

Minnesota's intense, influential Congressman Walter Judd, a physician, told the GOP women's club in his district that the President had agreed to run at the risk of his health.

"I know better than most, I think, how the President would like to be rid of this burden." Judd declared. "We must, of course, forget small things . . . just as this man (Eisenhower) puts them aside and walks perhaps to his doom, to his death."

Powerful Chairmen

Not many congressmen are as frank as Congressman Perkins Bass (R-NH) about the power of a committee chairman.

"I had occasion recently to appreciate just how powerful these gentlemen are and just how crucial seniority is," Bass wrote in his news letter. "Among the hundreds of bills before our House Banking Committee there is a relatively minor one concerning savings and loan associations. Our N. H. banking associaton is backing the bill. . . .

"I called our chairman, Brent Spence of Kentucky, a good, kind, experienced gentleman, But also pretty frank. I asked him to hold hearings on the bill. He replied nicely and politely that he couldn't do that. He said he was opposed to the bill. And that was that."

Win Convention Seat

With the Republicans and Democrats dividing among themselves on civil rights, farm legislation and foreign aid, it's not easy to make distinctions between the two great parties.

So it might be helpful to shed a little light on this confused situation by explaining how the donkey and the elephant go about holding contests for free trips to their national conventions. There's quite a difference.

Winning a seat at the Democratic hoe-down in Chicago is strictly a huckstering matter. Trick is to sell the most subscriptions to the party's official magazine, the Democratic Digest. Some 265 persons from all the states and territories who top the list at the end of July will be given scarce reserved seats plus $100 in expenses. They will also receive $1 for every $3.50 subscription they sell. A college competition will award 25 winners the same deal.

As for the GOP contest, it's designed more for soul searchers than salesmen. If you have ever written in less than 30 words why you like soap or tooth paste, this one should be a cinch! It's an essay contest, "Why I Am a Republican." Entries must be no more than 300 words, and anybody between the ages of 17 and 25 can try.

Only one prize is offered and that's an expense-paid trip to the Republican convention in San Francisco. So there's lots of competition. We're happy to report, however, that no politics are involved. The essay will be judged strictly on the basis of clarity of thought, originality and interest.

Ode to Spring

Robins? Bah.
Crocuses and lilacs? Pooh.

The real song of spring is the early afternoon call of the Blue Warbler as he bursts forth with his melodious, "Play Ball!"

When the ballyard grass blossoms with used paper cups and empty popcorn boxes, mankind may be assured that another spring has safely arrived.

And none too soon.

Our boundless hopefulness (or blindness) is such that last year's disasters are forgotten. Courage and optimism flower with the emerging of the souvenir salesman from his hibernation. Our team may have faltered in the race for the flag as last summer faded. But this is a new, clean start.

Hurrah! This is the "next year" we fans started waiting for when the final fly was caught last year.

Guest Editorial—

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: Ike's Golf Game. One could suggest with well-founded suspicion that the past four years have been unusually good for the golfing business. And the man behind this help to his fellow golf players is guess who—President Eisenhower

Now this does not mean it is wrong to like to play golf, or to have friends who are prominent pro golfers. Ike is not the first President who liked to play golf. Woodrow Wilson and Warren G. Harding, neither one of whom was particularly good at the game, used this game for relaxation from the duties of President which were even then quite demanding.

The strange aspect of the President's golf game seems that even his political enemies and those who criticize his policies seem interested in Ike's golf score. They either follow it out of sheer interest in the game, or to point out how much time he spends golfing while the Spanish foreign minister is in Washington.

Let us hope, however, that President Eisenhower will not be remembered only for his golf game—even if he has played fairly well after his illness.

Your Child's Health—

Ear Trouble in Children Can Have Lasting Effects

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A great many children develop ear infections some of which lead to chronic difficulty such as running ears, impaired hearing in later life, or to rupture of the drum membrane.

This condition, which is known in medical circles as otitis media, is worth knowing about.

Acute otitis often accompanies or follows the common cold or such diseases as measles. Prompt action by the use of the germ-killing drugs or by early drain age by making a cut into the ear drum may prevent a great deal of difficulty later on.

The seat of the trouble is in the portion of the ear called the middle ear, which is a sort of closed cavity shut off from the external ear or canal by an ear drum or membrane.

This cavity is connected to the nose by a passageway called the eustachian tube. It is by passage through this tube that many germs originating in the nose pass to the middle ear.

The discharge from a running ear consists of germs, dead cells and pus. Usually the discharge is whitish or yellowish in color but the color and consistency vary with the germs which are responsible for the infection.

When dangerous germs get in to the middle ear they cause inflammation of the delicate mucous membranes. Blockage of the eustachian tube is common.

When doctors look into the ear of a person with a painful earache they can usually tell whether the trouble is in the middle ear by the appearance of the drum membrane. This will usually bulge in acute ear infections and can be cut, allowing the pus to escape through the external canal.

If the process goes on and the drum membrane is not cut, the pressure generally bursts it and the material escapes by itself. From then on, however, the membrane is weaker than normal.

Treatment of chronic otitis is difficult. Cleanliness is important and includes the removal of crusts and anything which interferes with drainage. Washing with various solutions is of great help in accomplishing this purpose.

Some doctors have used sulfa drugs in powder form to blow into the middle ear. Also, suction is helpful in cleaning out the pus and mucous.

Because a chronic condition is so troublesome and interferes so much with perfect health, it is highly important that such infections be treated as early as possible.

Babies usually have a good deal of fever with acute otitis, put the ear on a pillow, hold the hand against the ear, shake their heads or otherwise find ways of showing the watchful parent what is wrong. Infants who are too young to talk need our special attention.

Ruth Millett Says—

That Egg Timer Is Useful To Limit Family Speeches

Got a three-minute egg timer around the house? It just might come in handy for something besides cooking soft-boiled eggs. In Chicago at a recent breakfast meeting for women Democrats the lady speakers were told they had to limit their talks to three minutes and were warned that they were to be timed by an egg timer.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for women to limit the "speeches" they make at home to three minutes?

Often husbands and children turn deaf ears to the woman of the house when she is trying to put across an idea. The reason is that once she's started on a topic it's hard for a woman to know when to stop.

She starts to remind Junior to go hang up his clothes and before she is through she has made a long speech, calling up everything he has done wrong or neglected to do for the past month. Long before she is through, Junior has quit listening.

Or a woman gets upset because her husband is late to dinner. Before she gets through telling him off, she has brought up how he behaved at last Saturday night's party and what she thinks of her mother-in-law.

Setting out an egg timer and saying "I have something important to say and it will only take three minutes" ought to make the family perk up and listen.

And it ought to keep the lady "speechmaker" from going too far and saying things she never had any intention of saying when she started.

There's more to timing than just choosing the right moment for broaching a subject. Timing ought also to tell you when you've said enough.

Three Escapes

PEABODY, Mass. (AP) — Charles McHugh, 54, railroad employe, was riding to work. His train was in a collision. Thirteen were killed, but he escaped injury.

He, and others, transferred to another train which also had a collision. Again, he was not injured.

A few days later he fell asleep while smoking. He suffered leg burns — not serious.

Delayed Wages

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — It took 58 years, but the railroad has finally paid the Rev. S. E. Gregg the $5.30 it owed him. The company wasn't holding out. He just never asked for the money before.

In 1898 before becoming a minister he got a job as a brakeman. After making one run of 265 miles he became ill and never went back.

When the Rev. Mr. Gregg, a Baptist minister, told Harvey Hartsell, a retired railroad man, about his one-day railroading career, Hartsell suggested he write the company and ask for his pay. It amounted to $5.30, figured at the brakeman's scale in those days of two cents a mile.

He wrote and the company dug up a voucher which had lain in the files more than a half century and wote a check.

A Home And Garden

A HOME AND GARDEN

Plan now a garden that will grow
Into a lovely thing,
For it is always fun to sow
The seeds of flowers in spring,
Then watch as each one pushes up
Right through the softened ground,
Or plant some shrubs and bushes
And roses all around.
Plant now some summer shade trees,
Or junipers or pines;
Remember God has made these,
As well as growing vines.
Flower boxes add a homey touch;
Petunias, gay and bright,
Are little flowers that stand so much
And make a gorgeous sight,
Look o'er your yard and plan a bit
Then make your dreams come true;
You're certain to be proud of it
For it reflects just you,
You'll love a little shady spot,
Secluded, to relax;
You'll love each painted flower pot,
Pink roses and blue flax,
The morning glories on the fence,
The brilliant blooming moss,
The arbor sturdy and immense
With vines grown clear across.
A house, no matter, big or small,
With flowers—whate'er they be —
Is something that is loved by all,
For it's a joy to see.

As Sedalia Sees It—

Ike Popularity in Cities May Offset Farm Losses

By Joseph A. Dear
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The significant implication of the Eisenhower-Kefauver contest in Wisconsin is that the President's growing popularity in cities may more than offset the Republican loss in farm areas.

Senator Kefauver's impressive showing in rural Wisconsin has been overemphasized, according to political analysts here. At any rate his showing tended to obscure the fact that President Eisenhower racked up a fine vote in Democratic city strongholds.

In Milwaukee, for example, Eisenhower made startling gains in Negro wards. In one such ward, the Democratic fall-off was more than 18 percentage points. There was a smaller, but still substantial, fall-off in traditionally Democratic labor wards. In the city, Eisenhower poled nearly 56 per cent of the total vote, whereas in 1952 he polled about 52 per cent of the vote.

It is unwise, of course, to read too much into the outcome of any primary election. But one reason that such importance is attached to the Milwaukee picture is that there was a bitter mayorality campaign.

This, according to analysts, helped get out the vote. Moreover, it helped get out the "liberal" vote. The liberal vote was sufficient to reelect Milwaukee's socialist Mayor, Frank Zeidler. But it didn't save the city for Kefauver.

The tentative conclusion that Republican tacticians have drawn from the Wisconsin primary is this: With Ike heading the ticket, the party may be able to survive the farm rebellion. The Democrats, on the other hand, have concluded that the farm rebellion may not be enough to assure victory in the fall.

Odd twist: The very same Southern Democrats who knifed Adlai Stevenson in 1952 are emerging as his principle supporters this year.

Example: Rep. Howard Smith, a conservative Virginia Democrat, speaks favorably of Stevenson now.

Yet Smith is a political ally of Senator Harry Byrd. Byrd, and his followers, refused to fight for Stevenson in 1952.

Wheeler Hall, a relatively new building at the Fort Belvoir, Virginia, training center of the famous Army Engineers, is near collapse and is temporarily unoccupied.

The Engineer Corps, which has vast experience in construction work, was somewhat red-faced to discover the deficiencies in a building at its training center.

Maj. Gen. Charles Holle, boss at Belvoir, said Wheeler Hall was built in 1952 at a cost of $775,000. F. H. Martell Company of Washington was the builder, Gen Holle said.

The hall, which housed the topography department, is a reinforced concrete structure. Recently dangerous cracks in the concrete beams were spotted. The building was taken out of use.

Gen. Holle said an investigation disclosed that reinforcing steel had been improperly placed, or omitted altogether, when the Hall was built. A New York consulting firm, Ammann and Whitney, made the investigation, according to Holle.

Holle said the Army will take action to recover damages from the builders, F. H. Martell Co.

THE NEIGHBOR has a beautiful flower garden, and when the little girls next door go over, she likes to take them around and show them her flowers. One day she went to their house and one of the little girls wanted to take her around and show her their flowers and so she led her around the yard pointing out the little yellow dandelions.—H.L.

WHEN THE WEATHER is wet, the dog likes more than ever to dig in the dirt, but he isn't a bit welcome in the house when he comes in with mud all over his feet. However, he has really been trained. A paper on the floor means that he is to stay there until the mud is wiped off his feet. On bad days he comes in, stops at the door, until someone says, "Go get on your paper." The pup goes right on over and sits there with one paw up just ready for someone to go to him and wipe off the mud.—H.L.

THE LITTLE Girl Scout's mother was going on a trip and the youngster was going down to the train with her to see her off. A long time before the mother was ready to leave, the youngster put on her complete Girl Scout outfit, even to the pins.

"What are you doing with your Girl Scout uniform on?" questioned the mother. "You'll get it dirty."

"I'm going to wear it down to the train," the little girl told her.

"There is no reason why you should wear your uniform down to the train," the mother argued.

"Yes, there is," replied the child. "A Girl Scout doesn't cry."

IT WAS another spring cold snap and the man went to the closet to get his top coat. He was a little surprised to find it wasn't hanging there where he was certain he had put it. He hunted all over the house but just couldn't find that coat.

It was a brand new top coat, but he wasn't too worried. He was certain he had worn it down to work during the warm days and had just forgotten when the weather had turned warm in the afternoon. Down he went and as he passed by the window he looked in to see—but no top coat. He looked the office over and then he was worried.

He remembered he had been to the Pacific Cafe, but he couldn't remember when. So he went down to see if it was there. It wasn't. Then he stopped by where he sometimes buys a cup of coffee. It wasn't there. He went to the Bothwell Hotel where he goes each week to a civic club meeting and it wasn't there.

By this time he was resigned. He had just lost a nice new top coat.

When he went home and told his wife that he was going to have to buy another new top coat she began to laugh.

"You don't need a top coat," she told him. "You need glasses."

And with that she led him to the closet. There was the coat in plain sight, exactly where he had thought he had put it—and had.—H.L.

Antique Flag

GARBER, Okla. (AP) — VFW members decided not to destroy the old flag which has been replaced at their hall. They discovered it had only 45 stars, which indicated it was made some time before 1890 when the 46th state was admitted to the union.

Drivers Fail To Help Stop Road Mishaps

"Making another driver pay for his mistakes in traffic is a form of disaster that no good driver will risk, yet only a small minority of drivers make any effort to help another motorist correct a mistake," declared Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, Missouri Highway Patrol superintendent.

Col. Waggoner pointed out that although driving privileges are equal for all drivers, their individual abilities, skills and attitudes will vary greatly. Many drivers because of lack of experience, poor judgment, or carelessness will make mistakes which can be prevented from turning into tragedy by the alertness of other defensive courteous drivers who take the proper steps to avoid an accident.

By way of example, Col. Waggoner explained how an alert careful driver could prevent disastrous passing accidents on a typical two-lane highway.

"Many drivers, particularly at high speeds, simply misjudge the distance required to pass and they attempt to pass without sufficient clear distance ahead. An accident can be prevented in this situation if the driver being passed and the oncoming driver both will slow down and let the trapped driver get back into the right lane. This is just one way to prevent accidents, but there are many other situations where a driver who is willing to slow down, can prevent the other fellow's mistake from becoming a tragedy."

Rabbits Without Fur

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A ruling by the attorney general has spurred campaigns to rid Wyoming ranchlands of an oversupply of jack rabbits. The attorney general ruled that rabbits do not grow fur and people who buy rabbit carcasses do not have to be licensed fur dealers. More than 3,000 rabbits were killed in drives near Pine Bluff and Douglas, Wyo. Ranchers say the rabbits have been destroying too many crops.

Cash Demanded

MT. STERLING, Ky. (AP) — The two policemen had cause to wonder if the city's credit was any good. "Charge it," said the officers as they left Mary Chiles Hospital with a prisoner who lost an argument with them.

But a hospital official insisted the $5.50 bill be paid immediately. The officers paid and City Council later voted to repay them after a $100 fine was levied against the prisoner.

Wheel Chair Fails to Impede Pittsburgh Pastor in Duties

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—If you pick up a party line telephone in one Pittsburgh suburb these days are apt to hear a minister earnestly praying or reading from the Scripture.

No one objects because it is one of the ways a husky 34-year old clergyman is proving that a wheel chair is not an unbeatable handicap. He's the Rev. John W. Pfahler, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

After a tour of duty as a Navy chaplain, Pfahler assumed the pastorate of the small church. He had been there only a year when stricken with polio in November, 1948.

Slowly recovering, he was in a wheel chair when he was discharged. His church was waiting for him and in 1950 he assumed his full duties.

Though he's unable to walk his church membership—now at 355—has nearly doubled. Each Sunday he preaches from the wheel chair and, with the choir, leads the congregational singing.

On week days he holds conferences and conducts other church business. He reads the Scriptures and prays with shut-ins over the telephone.

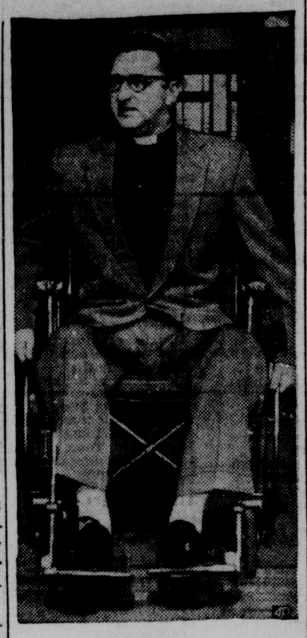
The resolute minister uses his auto for hospital and emergency calls. He reaches his specially equipped auto via a ramp at one end of his front porch. In his spare time he studies for a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Pittsburgh.

Pfahler is married to the daughter of a Lutheran minister and the couple has four children. Commenting on marital responsibilities, he says:

"I feel that we ministers don't have any right complaining about the divorce situation unless we do all we can to make lasting marriages.

As for his handicap, he says:

"A wheel chair is no unbeatable handicap. In fact, the situation is developing a strong lay leadership that otherwise wouldn't have existed. I love the ministry. I will stick to it as long as The Lord wants me."



ACTIVE PASTOR—The Rev. John W. Pfahler prepares to make calls on church members.

Baltimore Man Makes Hobby Of Tracing Forgotten Heirs

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Tracing forgotten men's forgotten money is Joseph A. McCabe's hobby.

Now retired, McCabe was for years a certified public accountant for an oil company while he pursued his spare-time interest in probate genealogy — tracing surviving relatives of deceased people who have left forgotten bank accounts.

Now he has a job as a book checker at the Enoch Pratt Free Library, where he had spent much of his spare time anyway, running down forgotten relatives in old records.

Here's how he works:

At each year's end, banks publish a list of the accounts which have been inactive for 20 years. Some of the banks will supply McCabe with the amount of such accounts, the last addresses of account holders and other available information.

McCabe then goes to work, searching through new and old city directories at the Pratt library and at the Library of Congress in Washington, where directories from all over the United States are kept. He also checks the city register of wills, the census records at the National Bureau of Archives in Washington, church baptismal records, old newspaper obituaries and many other sources.

When he finally finds a relative of the deceased account holder and has talked with him long enough to determine that he is the closest survivor, he tells the good news. Usually the surprised relative is glad to sign an agreement which appoints McCabe administrator of the legacy. With an attorney, McCabe goes into probate court, establishes the facts and gets an order for the money.

McCabe has not grown rich on his hobby. Each case takes time and some expense, and the accounts generally don't run into fabulous figures.

One of his most interesting cases involved only a few hundred dollars. It was brought to McCabe's attention by the treasurer of a local bank, who had helped him with a number of previous searches. The account in question had been inactive for 20 years and the holder had died with no immediate family to claim the money.

The bank treasurer informed McCabe that he had checked up to find the closest living relative was a Baltimorean. His name was Joseph A. McCabe.

Cracked Case

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma City police aren't making any special effort to crack an egg burglary case. They said a burglar broke into a creamery buying station and took a crate of eggs. The eggs were all cracked. They had been sorted from good eggs and placed in a special crate.

The Vikings were Scandinavian pirates that infested the seas of Europe during the eighth, ninth, and tenth centuries, making raids on coastal towns and cities.

California had a population gain of 18.1 per cent between April 1, 1950 and July 1, 1954.

Dinah Shore Show Is Model TV Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—There seems to be a prevailing notion in television that only the boys can go the pace of a full hour weekly night-time show. The girls just can't take it.

But there is one woman I'll bet could give the boys a run for their money: Dinah Shore.

Her 15-minute shows on NBC-TV never run long enough. Neither, it turns out, do her hour shows. On Tuesday evening she presented her second hour - long "Chevy Show" on NBC-TV. It was one of the best variety shows in many a moon.

The "Show" was a model of how to breathe life into that hybrid, the variety show. For once there were no distracting pretentious sets. The dialogue was straightforward and without coyness. No one was afraid to throw away lines — because there were so many good lines. At least we saw a show with no plugs for movies, actors, records, or somebody's motel.

Miss Shore carried the whole thing effortlessly, aided and abetted by those superb dancers, Marge and Gower Champion, Dean Martin, and a couple of top-flight clowns named Stubby Kaye and Johnny Silver. Martin seemed a little restrained, but he should be reassured he gets along fine without Jerry Lewis. A few songs, a little dancing, some tongue-in-cheek dialogue—that's really all there was to it. The result was superb entertainment.

It will be a great misfortune indeed if someone at network, agency or sponsor level fails to set in motion the process of bringing us Miss Shore more often in hour-length shows next season.

Interesting programs coming up on television (all times eastern):

Saturday, 3 p.m., ABC-TV—The commisioning of the U.S. Navy super-carrier Saratoga at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Saturday, 9 p.m., NBC-TV—Max Liebman presents "Marco Polo," a musical featuring Alfred Drake and Doretta Morrow. The music is based on themes by Rimski-Korsakov.

Sunday, 4 p.m., NBC-TV — "Wide Wide World" live cameras range across America "In Pursuit of Happiness."

Sunday, 7:30 p.m., NBC-TV—"Salute to Baseball" is a 90-minute program devoted to the national sport.

Busy Beavers 4-H Club Has Potluck Supper

The Busy Beavers 4-H Club met at the church April 9. Mary Ann Marsten gave a demonstration on how to make a wrist pinchusion. A committee was appointed to plan the service for 4-H Sunday, May 6. They are, Mrs. C. E. Sevier, Joyce Raney, Linda Files and Betty Wimer.

The meeting included a pot luck supper for the members and their families. The sewing girls meet each Tuesday after school with Mrs. Coles. There were nine present. The next meeting will be May 14 at the Methodist Church.

Variation On Theme

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Harry Farbman, conducted the St. Louis Symphony orchestra before 3,600 grade school children. The program included Rossini's overture to William Tell.

Farbman conducted the orchestra through that part of the overture used as the theme for the Lone Ranger radio and TV program. When the children finished piping "Hiyo Silver," Farbman said:

"What goes to make up a concert is not only what we play, and how we play it, but also how you listen to it — so now you listen."

The children obeyed him as the orchestra then played the entire overture.

Boys and Girls Express Love For Bookworm Reading Club

Boys and girls attending the small rural schools in the Boonslick Regional Library area have expressed a great interest in the Bookworm Reading Club which will be conducted during their vacation this summer. Many of these boys and girls have received Reading Circle Certificates for their balanced reading program during the school year. To receive one of these certificates they must read social studies, science and fine arts books as well as fiction.

Mrs. Gladys Leiter's room at Striped College has completed all their reading reports. Locust Grove school lacks only a few reports as did many others. Several teachers have said that they will have almost 100 per cent completion of their Reading Circle Certificates.

The third and fourth grades of Blackwater School wrote letters telling about the books they enjoy. Here is one of the letters:

Dear Miss Nistendirk,

My name is Tommy Zimmerman. I lik to ead the books a ut Blaze by C. W. Anderson. I like to read thes books because they are about horses and I like horses. In fact I have one of my own. Another thing I like about them is they are exciting. I am in the third grade. I can read pretty well. I like to read very well.

Your friend,
Tommy Zimmerman

Here is another:

Dear Miss Nistendirk,

My name is Laura Lee Morris. I am in the third grade. I live in Blackwater, Missouri. I will try to keep the books I read clean. I like to read books. I think I better say good-by so I will tell you my favorite book. This is my favorite book. And To Think I Saw It On Mulberry Street.

Sincerely your
Laura Lee Morris

Mr. and Mrs. McCain Are Rated Among Top Farm Agency Salesmen

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCain of Sedalia are among top salesmen for United Farm Agency, national farm selling organization with headquarters in Kansas City, in helping the company establish the greatest March sales record since it's founding more than 30 years ago. Each month, the top 50 salesmen over the nation are given special recognition and for March, the McCains were well up on the list.

Mr. and Mrs. McCain became local representatives for United Farm Agency in March, 1954.

Sales Exchange

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Albert Meyer, who solicits business by telephone for her window-salesman husband, picked a name at random and called Mrs. Alex Halbman, a stranger to her.

As she hung up, Mrs. Meyer's door bell rang. There was Alex Halbman, selling vacuum cleaners. She recognized his name on his briefcase.

2 Comedians Losing Their Video Wives

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two comedians are losing their TV wives this season. Nanette Fabray is shedding Sid Caesar, and now Jean Hagen has announced her split with Danny Thomas.

Of the two "divorces" the Thomas-Hagen one seems more serious. While Fabray is a great asset to Caesar's Hour," her skits are played strictly for laughs and there is little continuity from one show to the next. Besides, she was preceded by Imogene Coca as Caesar's "wife."

It's different with "Make Room for Daddy." The family relationship is more realistic, and Jean has been Danny's only spouse.

But the actress has determined to abandon her TV husband and kids, despite the handsome pay she draws.

"The loot is wonderful," she admitted. "And I have loved doing the show. But three years is long enough. I want a chance to do different things.

"In a few of the shows I've been able to do some departures. But I've still been playing the same character. The only real thrill I get out of acting is doing a variety of roles. Otherwise I'd just as soon be working in a shoe factory."

Jean said she had come to her decision several months ago, but had been asked by ABC to withhold it until plans for next season were settled. Gossips predicted there might be friction between her and Danny because of her desire to leave. She indicated such is not the case.

"Danny understands my reasons," she remarked. "When we finished our last show, we had a little celebration which he called 'Jean's quitting party.'"

Having done the last of 90 films for the show, she is turning to other matters. Her first assignment is playing Mrs. Lou Gehrig opposite Wendell Corey on "Climax" next Thursday. She plans a return to films. The only one she was able to do in the past three years was "The Big Knife," in which she played a philandering wife.

How will they explain her absence on "Make Room for Daddy?" (The show has been renewed for next year.)

Jean doesn't know. There have been plans to kill her off and portray Danny as a widower rearing two children. Or Danny might be supplied with a new wife. It's quite a problem.

Long-Distance Ticket

CODY, Wyo. (AP) — Jim Woodhouse, Pitchfork, Wyo., rancher, didn't want to risk running afoul of the law. The Cody police department received a $1 bill and an overtime parking ticket from Woodhouse.

They were mailed from Cortina, Italy, where he was visiting.

The irrepressible Danny Kaye stars in the king-size comedy of the year starting today at the Fox Theatre. "The Court Jester", filmed in Technicolor and Vistavision, with six sparkling new song hits, costars Glynis Johns, Angela Lansbury and Basil Rathbone and affords the king of comedy a royal romp of music and fun.

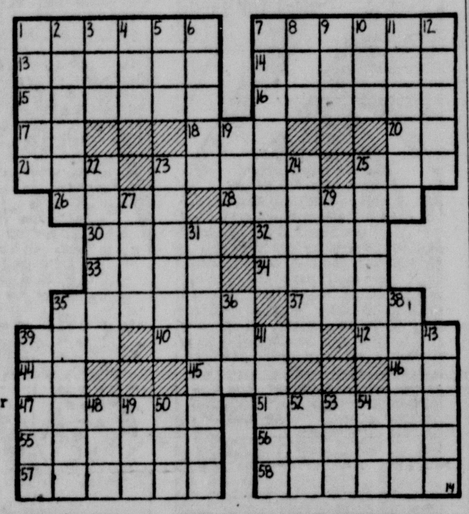
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Tombstone Found Causes Some Concern

Considerable speculation and concern was caused several days ago when a tombstone was accidentally uncovered on a piece of property in the 300 block on East Fifth.

The city was clearing away the remains of an old house when a workman uncovered the tombstone. Several neighbors and passersby saw the stone and began to wonder if there actually could be a grave there.

To add further to the 'mystery,' there was no record of a burial in a local cemetery to match the name on the tombstone. The name and dates were plainly visible on the stone.

After extensive checking it was finally found that a tombstone maker had lived there years ago and when a stone was not used for its intended purpose, it was just left lying or used for other purposes. Several other discarded stones were later found.

Welcome Brow

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A variety of family welcome signs usually greet incoming troopships from the Far East. One was a sign in bold letters: "Hi Brow!" Jack Warren of Seattle knew it was for him, all right. He carried the nickname "The Brow" through school.

Hat Trick

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) — District Judge Garnett R. Burks grabbed a hat as he left a cafe some time ago. Then he discovered it had a Colorado Springs, Colo., label and ink stains on it. He went back to check. His was gone. Some time later he went into the cafe again. His hat was there, plus ink stains. He left the one he found. Whe he checked again, the swap was complete, and the traded hat was gone.

Service Wives Defend Long Separations

By KATHERINE PINKHAM

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — June brides who quail at thoughts of looming separations from husbands in jobs that will take them far afield might find consolation in the experience of Army and Navy wives.

Some 150 wives of men in the armed forces wrote about it recently in a statewide essay contest in California. Maybe they were whistling in the dark, but a good many cited compensations for the enforced absences of their husbands.

"Taking one another for granted can kill the best marriage and that's one pitfall you're jarred out of," wrote Mrs. Thomas B. Place, wife of a major at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The assigned subject was "Why I am Proud to be a Service Wife" and a $100 prize was posted by the Associated Clubs of Wives of the Armed Forces. It went to Mrs. Alden A. Read of Berkeley, wife of a chaplain aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard.

The essays dealt with many phases of service life, but almost all the writers touched upon the painful partings.

"When our husbands are home, we value every moment; when they are away we remember the dearness of their presence," wrote Mrs. Read. During the absences, she added:

"We know we must take over our husbands' responsibilities at home, and we learn to do it and develop our own capabilities and potentialities, which many civilian wives never face until they are forced to it."

Nowadays many jobs take civilians away too—airplane pilots, engineers, technical experts of all kinds, salesmen, trouble shooters. Chain stores, networks and branch systems mean travel for executives in many lines of business, and lonely home stays for their wives.

Mrs. Alden A. Read

One Navy wife, Mrs. Harold L. Powell, wife of a lieutenant at Moffett Field, said this about it:

"I love my husband and resent any time we are parted. But it is a tremendously maturing process to discover one is capable of being the temporary head of the household."

When he returns . . . "How comforting it is to have a firm shoulder to lean on—and yet with the inner satisfaction of knowing I can cope without panicking when I am on my own."

Some mentioned the pleasure of getting letters from a husband away, noting they can be a "wonderful addition to marriage."

"It is amazing how many philosophical ideas and concrete examples of love find their way onto paper that otherwise would have remained just hazy thoughts," said one.

Mrs. J. E. Davies, wife of a major in the Marines, put it like this:

"The family separations have served to strengthen rather than jeopardize our marriage. . . Self reliance can be a very gratifying realization. . . Then the reunions have made a series of honeymoons Joe and I probably would not have enjoyed if we'd been constantly together."

The service wives told of traveling about the world, unaccompanied by their husbands, with babies and bottles, toys and tonsilitis. They said women make deeper friendships with each other sometimes because of the help they are able to give each other.

The contest brought out a lot of reasons why women who make a success of it like life in the services. From nearly all came useful tips on how to make a home quickly around your own belongings, whether the structure that contains them is a quonset hut on a Pacific island, an apartment in Manhattan, a remodeled stable at Newport, or a summer cottage in New Jersey without plumbing.

Schools Pupils Meet For Achievement Day

The pupils, parents and teachers of Anderson, Camp Branch and Quisenberry Schools held an Achievement Day at the Quisenberry School April 6. Each student displayed a sample of his handwriting which was judged by the Danish system by Dr. C. F. Scotten, county superintendent of schools. Eleven blue ribbons were awarded, seven red, 11 white and six pink.

In the spelling contest eight blue ribbons were awarded, six red and four white.

At noon a contributive lunch was served.

To open a short program in the afternoon, all sang two songs, accompanied by Karen Sue Rissler and Anita Rhoads. The Anderson pupils sang some songs and had a stunt. The Camp Branch pupils gave a dialogue and the Quisenberry pupils played several rhythm band numbers.

During the rest of the afternoon, racing and jumping contests were enjoyed. In the 50-yard dash, 16 blue ribbons were awarded, eight red and five white. In the broad jump, 15 blue ribbons were awarded, seven red and six white.

Give color interest to creamed finnan haddie by adding strips of green pepper and pimiento; or sprinkle with paprika.

Receive One Ratings At District Contest

Representing Lincoln in the District Music Contest held at Warrensburg April 5, 6 and 7, were Wayne Attwood, trombone solo, I rating; Miss Kay Christian, two vocal solos, I ratings; Miss Rayma Joy McCubbin, piano solo, I rating, and Glen Lehman, two solos, II rating.

The trombone trio composed of Attwood, Larry Boring, and Glen Lehman, was awarded a I rating, and the clarinet quartet composed of Miss McCubbin, Miss Dorothy Johnson, Miss Betty Burkhart and Weldon Brady received a II rating.
